Five Hurt In Two Accidents Near City

DRIVER'S ARM TORN OFF IN CRASH ON 42

Windsor Resident Injured as Auto Collides With Another, Falls Over Embankment.

LEXINGTON GIRLS HURT

Auto Upsets After Crash Near South Boulevards; Seville Youth In Hospital.

Two head-on auto collisions on Route 42 near the city last night and early today sent three youths and two girls to General hospital, one suffering an amputated arm, torn off above the elbow when his car overturned.

James Au, 24, of Windsor R. D. 2, suffered accidental amputation of his left arm and severe scalp lacerations last night when his car collided with another, skidded more than 250 feet, and droped over a 12-foot embankment, about three miles northeast of the city.

Joseph Weber, 22, of 335 Fifth avenue, driver of the other car, received a possible skull fracture in the crash which destroyed his auto.

In the other accident this morning, two Lexington girls and a Seville youth were injured when their autos collided about 300 yards south of South Boulevards. State highway patrolmen reported that the accident occurred after Glenna Jean Campbell, 17, of Lexington, attempted to make a left turn off the highway. The other car, driven by Philip Beach, 16, Seville, sideswiped her auto and overturned in a ditch.

Beach's companion, Clarence Strader, 16, Seville, suffered a possible skull fracture and numerous cuts and bruises while Ruth Hoverstick, 16, Lexington, who was riding with Miss Campbell received a fractured left elbow,

Easter Paraders To Have Chance to Display Finery

Mansfield Easter paraders may be able to display their spring finery without having it dampened by showers Sunday, the weatherman said today.

He forecast overcast skies and mild temperatures for most of Ohio Sunday, with scattered showers due in the western half of the state.

Mansfield today had its sixth consecutive day of ideal spring weather with the mercury going all the way up to 67 at noon. Yesterday's high was 71.

Showers were forecast for most of the middle western states, but in other sections the forecast was for fair and mild weather.

The national capital prepared today for an estimated 200,000 visitors at the annual cherry blossom festival. The Japanese cherry blooms are tardy, however, and some of them were not expected to be out until Wednesday.

Mrs. Henry A. Wallace, wife of the vice-president, was scheduled to preside at the traditional Easter egg rolling on the White House lawn tomorrow. Mrs. Roosevelt, who usually presides, will be in Los Angeles.

THREATEN BREAK

Bulgarians Ready to Recall Envoy To Yugoslavia, Say Observers.

SOFIA — (INS) — Bulgaria may break off diplomatic relations with Yugoslavia at any moment, observers believed today, although official quarters denied any such move was contemplated.

Reliable reports said the Yugoslav minister, M. Milanovitch was leaving Sofia today with three staff members. However, the Yugoslav delegation denied this and said no decision has been taken.

Mansfield Gets Look At Troops

Motorized Column Stays Over Night; Hundreds Inspect 'Camp.'

Mansfielders got a close-up view of the U. S. Army's strength yesterday when 500 soldiers, scheduled to act as the nucleus for the new Fourth Armored Division of the Second Army, rolled into town, most of them to stay over night.

The force, divided into four companies, rolled into the city over U. S. route 42 from Fort Knox, Ky., shortly before 4 p. m. and went to Battery D's armory on Ashland road where it was stocked with food and fuel sufficient for another day's travel. After taking on supplies, 150 of the men in 35 armored scout cars went on to the Ashland armory to spend the night.

Hundreds of Mansfielders, anxious for a glimpse of the troops, crowded the armory grounds. Police Chief Bates reported that congested traffic near the armory was handled by the transfer of several men from other details.

After their evening meal, the troops roamed about the city sight-seeing and relaxing before the third stage of their trip which took them to Erie, Pa., today.

At 7 a. m. today, the motorized column swung out of the field next to the armory to continue its trip to its new home at Pine Camp, N. Y. Pine Camp, previously used for New York National Guard maneuvers, has been completely outfitted as a regular army cantonment.

The troops passing through Mansfield were convoying some of the motorized vehicles necessary to set up a new armored division. About 3,500 other soldiers to be included in the new division, made the trip by train.

Backbone of the long column of vehicles were the 97 armored scout cars, described by some of the soldiers as "the car Britain would like to have thousands of." In addition, 55 other army trucks, motorcycles, reconnaisance cars and passenger autos were included in the calvacade.

Major G. B. Hudson, who commanded the force, estimated that in closed formation the cars were spread out in a five-mile line. A line this size would take ten minutes to pass a given point at a speed of 30 miles per hour. The major said that when the cars werein open formation it would take twenty minutes

LINDY APPROVES

Calls Establishing of Bases In Greenland 'Logical.'

NEW YORK—(AP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh was quoted by the New York Herald Tribune today as saying that the government's action to set up defense bases in Greenland was a wise and logical move in Western Hemisphere protective strategy.

Lindbergh reiterated, said the newspaper, that Greenland's climate and topography made the island unusable as an air or naval springboard for an invasion of North America from Europe and added that establishment of anything other than small American bases was neither practical nor necessary to protect Greenland from possible foreign efforts to gain a foothold there.

ORDER SEARCH

Police Investigate Disappearance of Salesman at Springfield.

SPRINGFIELD — (AP) — A search was ordered by police today for Bernard J. McKenna, 42, a salesman for the Ohio Fuel Gas company, who has been missing for the past 10 days.

McKenna was last seen when he left his rooming house here last week. His clothing and automobile were left at the residence.

RAISE QUESTION OF SUB ATTACKS

Washington Observers Declare U. S. Ships Face Danger In Red Sea Zone.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—President Roosevelt's opening of a pathway to Suez to American ships carrying war cargoes raised serious questions today concerning their possible search and seizure—or even attack—by Axis submarines or airplane raiders which might operate in that African fringe of the war.

By eliminating from the combat zone a narrow watery strip between Italian Somaliland and the Arabian coast, the president opened a gateway for American vessels into the Gulf of Aden, the Red Sea, and the Suez Canal. All have been closed to United States commerce since Italy's entrance into the war.

While the areas touched by that water route have been freed of actual warfare by British victories over the Italians, or are neutral and non-belligerent, it

Brothers' Bodies Recovered, Had Been Missing Since November.

LORAIN—(INS)—The bodies of two men found in Lake Erie were identified today as those of two brothers from Monessen, Pa., who had been missing since Nov. 17 when they went duck hunting from Detroit.

The men were Edward and Michael Habaski. Edward's body was found in the inner harbor, while his brother's body was caught on the fishing line of Orvil Archer near Sheffield lake.

WAIT RESULTS

Aluminum Company Officials Watch Mass Meeting.

CLEVELAND—(INS)—Aluminum Company of America officials awaited the result of a union mass meeting today at which members of the National Association of Die Casting Workers (CIO), will receive a report of a conference called to prevent a threatened strike in Cleveland plants.

The conference, held yesterday by union and company officials, was adjourned until Monday after Al Balint, regional director of the union, presented grievances which resulted in work stoppages this week.

Terms for a proposed consent election to determine bargaining agencies will be discussed further on Monday. The company reported work was progressing at a normal pace on millions of dollars worth of defense orders

U. S. ASKS CITY TO MAKE FUSES

Industrial Firms Requested to Assist In Manufacture of Shell Equipment.

The U. S. War department today had asked Mansfield industrial firms to help produce 1,340,000 shell fuses a month in the Cleveland ordnance district which includes Northern Ohio and Western Pennsylvania.

R. C. Purkhiser, army engineer from Cleveland, conferred with representatives of the city's manufacturing firms and the Chamber of Commerce, submitting the army's proposal to them.

Specifications for the fuses were left with C. L. Van Derau manager of manufacturing at the Westinghouse plant, where they will be available to industrial firm representatives who believe their plants can make one or more parts for the fuses.

Purkhiser said he would like to have one Mansfield plant take the primary contract for a large number of the fuses and then sublet it to other industries here, each making some of the 30 parts needed in the fuses. Industrial heads had not indicated today, however, whether they would be interested in the engineer's proposal.

Purkhiser said the fuses would be adaptable to a number of shell sizes, including anti-aircraft, machine gun, and field artillery unit ammunition.

City Workers 'Scour' Streets With Fire Hose and Flusher

Service-Safety Director C. M. Crafton personally directed a concentrated attack against winter-hardened dirt in the city streets early this morning with the aid of 19 men from the city street department, a fire truck, two firemen with fire hose, and a street flusher.

The group worked from 2 to 5:30 a. m. scouring the pavement on Park avenue between Main and Mulberry, Fourth street from Mulberry to Diamond and Walnut and Main streets from Park avenue west to Fourth street.

Crafton reported that more progress was made than in the other nights which the street crew has been working. The fire hose loosened the extra-hard crust but not to Crafton's satisfaction. He pointed out that these same streets had been flushed every night this week and that the dirt should have been loosened.

Blame for the condition of the city streets, according to Crafton and Mayor William J. Locke, should be placed on the lack of heavy spring rains, the large number of dig-ups and the excessive spreading of cinders to check skidding on icy days.

Crafton also announced that a sweeper, rented by the city, would swing into action Monday night on various streets throughout the city. He said that work would be done in the daytime on the outlying streets. Work downtown would have to be done at night, Crafton said, because of heavy traffic.

LABOR-DEFENSE PICTURE LOOKS BRIGHTER NOW

Ford Plant Expected to Open Monday; But Norris Asks Labor Clean House.

DRASTIC ACTION WARNED

UAW Seeks Strike Vote Among 175,000 Workers at General Motors.

(By Associated Press)

Prospective opening of the Ford Motor company's River Rouge plant—largest industrial unit in the world—brightened the labor-defense picture today, but Senator Norris (Ind.-Neb.), still viewed the general problem seriously enough to warn that "drastic action" will come out of congress unless labor cleans house.

Norris, co-author, with Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia of New York of the Norris-LaGuardia act limiting the right of the federal courts to issue injunctions in labor disputes, said in an open letter to his constituents that some local unions had resorted to "intimidation" in getting fees out of job applicants.

While the veteran senator decried labor "racketeering," he nevertheless said labor was being unfairly accused in connection with defense industry strikes.

Settlement of the Ford strike—the great plant was expected to open again Monday—was described by Gov. Murray D. Van Wagoner of Michigan as "an historic step in establishing industrial peace in our country." About 200,000 workers in the Ford and allied plants have been idle for 11 days and work on $155,000,000 in defense contracts has been bogged down. The union's original demands included recognition of the CIO-UAW union, a 10-cent hourly wage rise and abolition of what they termed a "company spy system."

The plan for agreement calls for the return of employes to their jobs without discrimination, the re-establishment of grievance procedure and cooperation of both sides in holding an NLRB election for collective bargaining representation. The labor board agreed to postpone a hearing set for Mon-

INSPECTOR DUE

He'll Survey Airport For Pick-Up Mail Service.

Mansfield was a step nearer direct air mail service today after officials of All American Aviation, Inc., said they would send a representative here next week to make a preliminary survey of the possibilities of establishing a pick-up station here.

John G. Routzon, secretary-manager of the Chamber of Commerce, said a questionnaire which was filled out and submitted to the All American Aviation, Inc., several days ago has been tentatively approved.

He said the Chamber of Commerce aviation committee would be called in to confer with the air lines representative when he arrives.

Under the proposed pick-up plan, Mansfield would be linked with Akron, Pittsburgh, and other large cities to the east and Columbus, Dayton, and Cincinnati to the south and southwest. From those points, mail dispatched here or intended for Mansfield would have connections with every part of the United States and the rest of the world.

Allies Bomb Enemy Before Big Encounter

Axis Forces Reported Advancing On Belgrade as Berlin Claims North Yugoslav Army 'Dissolving'; Renew Fight Near Tobruk

BULLETIN

LONDON—(UP)— A British armored car patrol along the Jugoslav-Greek frontier was reported reliably today to have blasted a German infantry unit in Monastir area.

BULLETIN

COPENHAGEN—(INS)—(Via Berlin)—A formal protest against President Roosevelt's action in placing the Danish colony of Greenland under American protection was being formulated today by the Danish government.

(By Associated Press)

Allied and German armies met today in a mighty battle in the Phlorina area of Greece, 16 miles south of the Bitolj (Monastir) gap, the British radio reported, while in northern Yugoslavia Nazi units, according to the German high command, were advancing from several directions on Belgrade.

Details of the battle in the rugged Greek mountains were lacking. The Germans asserted that Yugoslav resistance in Croatia had collapsed and that "the Serbian northern army is dissolving."

British bombers were said to have pounded Germans in southern Yugoslavia and northern Greece before the land forces joined battle.

There was a diplomatic development of interest; a German radio broadcast heard in Bern, Switzerland, said Yugoslav's premier, Gen. Dusan Simovic, had left on a mission, presumably for Moscow. It was recalled that only Thursday Red Star, organ of the Soviet army, said the Soviet-Yugoslav friendship pact was "all the more valuable under the new conditions because the Soviet union always fulfills its international pledges."

The German high command's war bulletin said Nazi troops had occupied Varazdin, a Yugoslav town on the Hungarian border, and that a Serb brigade had surrendered to the Germans. Northwest of Zagerb the Germans claimed to have reached the Sava river.

The battle in the Phlorina area between the Germans and both flanks of the British-Greek defense line was forecast last night.

Theologos Nicoloudis, Greek press minister, told the residents of German-occupied Macedonia and Thrace in a broadcast last night that:

"Within a few hours there will start—if it has not started already—one of the most stubborn and best battles in history, between the Greeks and English on one hand and the Germans on the other. We shall win the battle."

Yugoslavia, meanwhile, was cut off entirely from Greece as German units driving westward established contact with Italian forces from Albania north of Lake Ochrida, Yugoslavia.

Berlin took the view that the juncture of the Axis armies sealed the fate of Yugoslav divisions still fighting in central Serbia, and Adolf Hitler wired hearty greetings to Benito Mussolini.

General Dusan Simovic, Yugo-

STRATEGY: Slavs Reveal How German Invasion Developed

BULLETIN

ISTANBUL—(U.P.)—A Yugoslav source reported today that a Yugoslav counter-offensive had been started in an effort to recapture the key city of Skoplje, in southern Serbia.

(By United Press)

LONDON—Boy King Peter of Yugoslavia, who took the throne in his own right 10 days before the Germans invaded the country, is with his army at the front, the Yugoslavia government telegraphed its legation here today.

Germany and Italy had alleged that the 17-year-old king had fled to Athens.

As the first definite news came of King Peter, an authoritative review of the Yugoslav side of the first five days of the fighting which started Sunday became available here.

The Germans attacked on five fronts, the review said.

On the first front, it was asserted the Italian assault from the northwest was a complete failure. The Italians failed to advance except at one point near the Austrian frontier where they made five miles, it was said.

On the second front the Germans pushed into northern Yugoslavia, taking Maribor Wednesday and, with the use of motorized forces, dashing into Zagreb. As the Germans pressed on, the review said, the Yugoslavs retired to the Slovenian mountains and south of the Sava river. German and Hungarian troops massed on Hungary's frontier began invading the northeast of Yugoslavia yesterday, it was said.

On the third front Germany had strong forces massed at the Rumanian frontier, while Adolf Hitler tried to enlist the active aid of the Rumanian army, it was said. The latest word, according to the

MISJUDGED: Nazis Claim FDR Guessed Wrong On Yugoslavia

(By Associated Press)

BERLIN—Authorized German sources said today that not within a century has a statesman so completely misjudged a situation as President Roosevelt did regarding Yugoslavia.

They declared the American president's prestige had suffered a tremendous blow.

Regarding Roosevelt's arrangements with the Danish minister at Washington for bases on Greenland, these sources commented:

"That Roosevelt shrinks from no violation of law is well known. According to information we have, his arrangement with the Danish minister is illegal. Until the Danish government however, has announced its position Germany will not make known its own. It will then, however, react in the manner deemed best and by measures deemed expedient."

President Roosevelt's proclamation opening the Red sea route to Suez to United States merchant shipping was described as "the first open intervention in European affairs and violation of the European Monroe Doctrine."

Of events in the Balkans, authorized Germans said Germany would be glad to help little independent groups trying to set up states such as Croatia and Macedonia, but added that what final form southeastern Europe will take was being left to later consideration.

NARROW PRICE CHANGES RULE ON MART TODAY

Some Stocks Show Small Rise In Quiet Opening; Easter Spending Above '40.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK. — Narrow price changes either way ruled today's early stock market dealings.

At a quiet opening small advances were posted for Chesapeake & Ohio, N. Y. Central, Texas Corp., Western Union and Phelps Dodge. A shade lower were Chrysler, General Electric, U. S. Steel, Youngstown Sheet and Loew's.

Among items scanned by market analysts were:

Pre-Easter retail spending in New York and Brooklyn was estimated to have topped the comparable period last year by 40 per cent. Near-record shopping volumes were reported from many sections of the country this week.

The commerce department disclosed British purchases in the United States during 1940 comprised about 21.5 per cent of all American exports and totalled $1,010,845, or approximately double the amount of 1939.

SHELBY TAKES SECOND PLACE

Sally Van Horn Captures First In Dramatic Declamation.

SHELBY — Shelby high school speech team took second place in the Western Ohio and Michigan district speech tournament of the National Forensic league held at Dayton, O., yesterday and Thursday.

Setting the pace for the Shelby team was Miss Sally Van Horn, who won the district title in dramatic declamation. Miss Van Horn won the state title in the Ohio High School Speech league tournament last year.

Miss Lois Pittenger took second in dramatic declamation; John Smith and Harriet Young placed fourth and sixth in humorous declamation; and Jeanne Garvin and Janice Stephan won fourth and sixth in oratorical declamation.

The Shelby debate team took sixth place. On the team are Sally Van Horn, JoAnn Fish, Raymon Zeiters, and Betty Hart.

Miss Sue Dowds, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. E. D. Dowds of this city, was named as speaker for the mock congress, while Harry Crawford was named sergeant-at-arms. Joe Wagner was elected as the second outstanding congressman.

Final placing of the first five teams: Dayton Oakwood, 50; Shelby, 48; Marysville, 46; Columbus North, 45; and Hamilton, 37.

RAISE QUESTION OF SUB ATTACKS

Washington Observers Declare U. S. Ships Face Danger In Red Sea Zone.

was pointed out in informed quarters here there nevertheless would be elements of danger for any American vessels plying that course, particularly if they carried war supplies for Britain, Yugoslavia or Greece.

Adolf Hitler has warned that every ship, with or without convoy, attempting to carry arms and munitions to aid the British would be sunk. At least one German pocket battleship has been reported raiding in the Indian Ocean, on one of the routes from the United States to Suez. Axis planes reportedly have bombed ships in the Suez Canal.

While the 1939 neutrality act prohibits American ships from carrying supplies to belligerent countries it does not specifically forbid transport of cargoes which may be destined for transshipment to a belligerent from a neutral country.

Yet informed sources said that if American ships carry war supplies to Egypt—for use there, or by Britain, Greece and Yugoslavia in the Eastern Mediterranean—they might be stopped, searched, and possibly suffer seizure of any contraband cargo, at the hands of German or Italian raiders.

Replying to inquiries on the subject, President Roosevelt said there would be no tendency on the part of the United States to explore the question of whether supplies consigned to neutrals might ultimately reach belligerent countries.

State department officials declined to discuss "hypothetical questions" which might involve American ships with German or Italian raiders or submarines.

Any and each incident involving attempted search or seizure of any American vessel, officials said, would constitute a separate case to be studied on the basis of the facts.

DARRELL McCLURE
OH, HELLO – I'LL BETCHA YOU GOT A TELEGRAM FOR MRS. CAPTAIN JAMES SALTEE!!
THAT'S RIGHT – DON'T TELL ME YOU'RE MRS. SALTEE
G'WAN, YOU'RE JUST FOOLIN' ME – BUT COME ON – HURRY UP, QUICK – AN' GIVE HER THE MESSAGE
WHAT'S THE BIG RUSH??
MRS. JIM IS FEELIN' KINDA WORRIED – COME ON, WE'LL RUN LIKE EVERYTHING – AN' THEN I'LL GIVE YOU A GREAT, BIG GLASSFUL OF SWELL ORANGE JUICE
DARRELL McCLURE
GOOD NEWS, ANNIE – CAPTAIN JIM WILL BE HOME TODAY
GLORYOSKY – THAT'S SWELL – I KIN HARDLY WAIT TO FIND OUT IF HE BOUGHT A NEW SHIP!
YES, I HAVE MY EYE ON A BEAUTIFUL SHIP – BUT THE PRICE IS HIGHER THAN I EXPECTED TO PAY
THAT'S ALWAYS THE WAY
I ALWAYS SEE THE BARGAINS AFTER I'VE SPENT MY MONEY ON SOMETHING ELSE
WORLD CONDITIONS HAVE SENT THE PRICE OF EVERYTHING THAT WILL FLOAT LEAPING UPWARDS
I HAVEN'T GIVEN UP YET – I MAY HAVE TO BORROW SOME MONEY
I DON'T LIKE BORROWING MONEY
HONEST, CAPTAIN JIM – YOU DON'T HAVE TO BORROW MONEY – I GOT LOTSA MONEY – MORE'N A HUNDRED DOLLARS IN THE BANK AN' I'LL GIVE IT TO YOU FREE
DARRELL McCLURE
THE SHIP YARD HAS AGREED TO CUT THE PRICE ON THE NEW SHIP – IN CONSIDERATION OF MY PAYING CASH AND CLOSING THE SALE IMMEDIATELY
BUT YOU KNOW, ABBIE – I WOULD NEVER CLOSE THE DEAL UNTIL YOU SAW THE SHIP AND LIKED IT
THAT'S SWEET OF YOU, JIM – BUT I KNOW VERY LITTLE ABOUT SHIPS
AND I DON'T BELIEVE THE FABLE ABOUT WOMAN'S INTUITION
WOMAN'S INTUITION HAS NOTHING TO DO WITH THIS DEAL –
I WANT YOUR COMMON SENSE – THE SHIP IS TO BE OUR FUTURE HOME – SO –
AYE, AYE, SIR! YOU'RE THE CAPTAIN – ANNIE AND I WILL OBEY ORDERS
I'LL BETCHA THE SHIP WILL BE SWELL

TOOTS AND CASPER

CASPER, I NEVER GOT AN ANSWER TO MY LETTER IN REPLY TO THAT AD FOR THE $10,000 A YEAR JOB! DID YOU?
NOT YET, BUT I STILL HAVE HOPES, THEY CAN'T AFFORD TO PASS UP A GUY LIKE ME!
I HOPE YOU'RE NOT SORE ABOUT MY TRYING TO HORN IN ON THE JOB!
NOT A BIT, COL. HOOFER, FORGET ABOUT IT-EVERY MAN FOR HIMSELF - - THAT'S MY MOTTO!
I DIDN'T HAVE MUCH HOPE FOR MYSELF, BUT I WAS WISHING YOU'D LAND IT! THERE'S NOBODY I'D RATHER SEE GET THE JOB!
THANKS, COL. HOOFER!
HE MEANS THERE'S NOBODY HE'D RATHER SEE GET THE HOOK!
JIMMY MURPHY
Copr. 1941, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved.
COL. HOOFER SAID HE WAS ROOTING FOR ME TO GET THAT $10,000 A YEAR JOB! I'VE GOT A SCHEME TO SHOW HIM UP!
WELL, TOOTS, I GUESS I'M NOT SO GOOD, AFTER ALL! ANOTHER FELLOW GOT THAT BIG JOB; BUT COL. HOOFER DOESN'T KNOW IT YET!
YOU WERE AFRAID THAT HE WOULD GET IT AND HE WAS AFRAID THAT YOU WOULD GET IT. YOU BOTH DID A LOT OF UNNECESSARY WORRYING!
MAYBE I DID LOSE A LOT OF SLEEP OVER THAT JOB, BUT IT WOULD BE WORTH IT TO SEE COL. HOOFER'S FACE WHEN HE GETS THIS LETTER!
JIMMY MURPHY
Copr. 1941, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved.
Dear Col. Hoofer- Your name has been given to us as a reference by Mr. Casper. We are considering him for an important position. Our representative will call at your home for an interview. Yours Truly, Universal Pretzel Co.
4-9
Copr. 1941, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved.
I CAN'T WAIT TILL I CALL ON COL. HOOFER IN MY DISGUISE, AFTER HE GETS MY PHONEY LETTER!
I'LL LEARN IF HE WAS SINCERE WHEN HE SAID HE'D LIKE TO SEE ME GET THE JOB!
AND WHAT GOOD WILL THAT DO YOU?
I'VE ALWAYS WANTED TO FIND OUT WHAT COL. HOOFER REALLY THINKS OF ME!
WELL- GO AHEAD - BUT MAYBE IT'LL BE MORE OF A SHOCK THAN YOU EXPECT!
JIMMY MURPHY
DID YOU GET A LETTER FROM THE UNIVERSAL PRETZEL CO. ABOUT MY APPLICATION FOR THAT BIG JOB?
NO, THEY DIDN'T WRITE TO ME!
Copr. 1941, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved.
HE'S STALLING, ALL RIGHT! HE MUST HAVE GOT THAT LETTER!
I WANT TO RENT A DISGUISE! CAN YOU FIX ME UP?
SURE!
4-10
COL. HOOFER? I REPRESENT THE UNIVERSAL PRETZEL CO.
OH, YES- COME RIGHT IN!
WE'RE CONSIDERING CASPER FOR A BIG JOB! I WANT TO GET SOME INFORMATION ABOUT HIS FINANCIAL STANDING!
I CAN GIVE YOU PLENTY!
Copr. 1941, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved.
CASPER MAY BE HERE ANY MINUTE! HE PHONED ME HE'S COMING OVER TO BORROW SOME MONEY!
--YES, CASPER IS ABSOLUTELY HONEST, BUT HE'S STRICTLY A SMALL-TIME BUSINESS MAN! NOW-ER-- IF THIS JOB CALLS FOR REAL EXECUTIVE ABILITY, I MIGHT BE WILLING TO- AHEM- CONSIDER-- CASPER!
SO THAT'S THE KIND OF A PAL YOU ARE, COLONEL HOOFER?
JIMMY MURPHY
4-11
WHY, OF COURSE, I RECOGNIZED YOU AT ONCE YESTERDAY, CASPER, THAT PHONEY BEARD DIDN'T FOOL ME A MINUTE!
IF I THOUGHT YOU HAD A CHANCE FOR THAT JOB, I'D HAVE GONE OVERBOARD FOR YOU, BUT I GUESS WE'RE BOTH A COUPLE OF FAILURES!
Copr. 1941, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved.
BY THE WAY, CASPER, I'M STUCK WITH A FANCY DESK-SET THAT COST ME $49.50! DO YOU KNOW ANYONE THAT MIGHT BUY IT FROM ME?
IF I DID, I'D SELL HIM MY OWN! I'M STUCK WITH ONE, TOO!

TRAFFIC COURT
YOU WERE A PERFECT GOOF TO DRIVE YOUR DADS CAR WITHOUT A LICENSE!
SORRY, I GOT YOU IN THIS JAM!
--BUT I WAS AFRAID YOU WOULDNT DATE ME --IF I TOLD YOU I WAS TOO YOUNG TO DRIVE!
ARENT YOU SILLY? WELL I'M STICKING WITH YOU! COME ON LETS GIVE THE CHIEF A BREEZE
CHIEFS BUSY! WHATS ON YOUR MINDS
WE WANT TO TALK WITH HIM PERSONALLY!
WHATS THE PENALTY FOR DRIVING A CAR WITHOUT A LICENSE?
WELL LAST WEEK THE JUDGE SOCKED A GUY A HUNDRED BUCKS AND THIRTY DAYS IN JAIL. WHY?
NOTHING! WE WERE JUST WONDERING!
LISTEN, GOT A NICKEL? I'M GOING TO CALL UP DAD, TO GET US OUT OF THIS JAM!
JEEPERS! NO!!
YOUR OLD MAN WOULD TELL MY DAD, AND THEN THERE'D BE FIREWORKS! NIX! LETS LEAVE THEM OUT OF THIS!
GUESS YOU'RE RIGHT!!
OH! OH! LOOK WHOS DRIVING UP IN FRONT OF THE POLICE STATION!
YOUR DAD-- AND MINE! THE CHIEF MUSTA PHONED THEM ABOUT US!
HALF-HOUR LATER--
THEYRE STILL IN A HUDDLE! THEYRE COOKING UP SOMETHING!
ALCATRAZ, HERE WE COME!
I'M SORRY, MR BELLOWS BUT YOUR SON WAS CAUGHT OPERATING A CAR WITHOUT A DRIVERS LICENSE! AND THERE'S A LAW AGAINST IT!
HE'S BEEN TOO BIG FOR HIS BRITCHES EVER SINCE HE MET THIS GIRL!
I RESENT THAT!
FORGET IT- HAVE A CIGAR!
IF SHE HADNT MADE A DATE WITH HIM, HE NEVER WOULD HAVE TAKEN THE CAR OUT!
LISTEN, CHIEF! MY DAUGHTER HASNT BROKEN ANY LAWS! JUST BECAUSE THIS NITWIT BOY OF HIS GETS IN TROUBLE--
GENTLEMEN! PLEASE!
THAT GIDDY-HEADED DAUGHTER OF YOURS CAUSED ALL THIS!!
MY DAD WAS GOING TO SWING ON YOURS BUT THE CHIEF GOT BETWEEN THEM!
LOOKS LIKE WE STARTED SOMETHING!
THE CHIEF WANTS TO SEE YOU TWO!
YOU'RE BOTH NICE KIDS, BUT SUPPOSE EVERYBODY JUST JUMPED IN A CAR AND DROVE OFF, WITHOUT BOTHERING TO GET A LICENSE - THE ROADS WOULD BE FULL OF INEXPERIENCED DRIVERS! NOBODY WOULD BE SAFE! UNDERSTAND?
YES, SIR!
YOU'RE OKAY! IT'S HIS GRIEF-- COME ON!
YOU'RE TOO YOUNG TO DRIVE!
IT WAS MY FAULT, TOO," WHATEVER THE PENALTY IS, DIVIDE IT!" I'LL TAKE HALF!"
AW, GEE FORGET IT ETTA! I'LL TAKE THE RAP!
BUT, ETTA- YOU HAVENT BROKEN ANY LAW-! YOU'VE GOT A LICENSE!
I KNOW BUT IT WOULDNT BE FAIR TO WALK OUT ON A FRIEND-
HE DROVE THE CAR TO TAKE ME OUT SO ITS REALLY MY FAULT, TOO!
DONT BE A GOOF, ETTA!
WELL LET ME SEE! WE OWE YOU SOMETHING FOR FIGHTING THOSE BANDITS --THAT HELPED US CATCH THEM!
BESIDES, YOU WEREN'T INVOLVED IN AN ACCIDENT-
SO I'LL MAKE IT EASY FOR YOU -- I'LL MAKE YOU BOTH GO TO TRAFFIC SCHOOL!
THAT'S FAIR ENOUGH!
GEE! THANKS!
HI! ITS EIGHT O'CLOCK! GOING TO TRAFFIC SCHOOL TONIGHT?
I'LL THINK IT OVER!
I'M NO KID!
I GO TO BE NICE TO YOU, AND WHAT DO I GET? SENTENCED TO GO TO THAT OLD TRAFFIC CLASS! ITS ALL YOUR FAULT!
SCHOOL DAYS! SCHOOL DAYS! DEAR OLD GOLDEN RULE DAYS! ARENT YOU GOING, CHILDREN?
WERE WAITING FOR A GREEN LIGHT!
THERES THE DOOR-BELL! IF ITS A BOY I'M GOING TO A MOVIE!
HERE'S THE TRUANT OFFICER, CHILDREN!
THEY'LL GO WHEN THE WAGON COMES!

BROADWAY

—By Dorothy Kilgallen

Gossip In Gotham.

THE feud between Nita Naldi and Mae Murray, both of the Diamond Horseshoes show, is the hottest Broadway has seen since the good old days! . . . Eddy Duchin and Jane Pickens are Renewing That Thing in Chicago. . . . Paulette Goddard has been getting threatening letters in Hollywood. The police are checking, because it looks like a repetition of the ones she received last year.

Marie (Gentlemen Prefer Blondes) Wilson and Nick Grinde, who have been threatening it for so long, will waltz down the aisle in June. . . . A Chicago labor czar is slated for federal grand jury indictment.

Carol Bruce (who has that kind of figger) will be given a jungle buildup a la Dorothy Lamour when she hits the screen for Universal. . . . Victor Mature is improving after his emergency appendectomy at Doctors hospital. He thought it was just ptomaine!

Barbara McAdo, daughter of the late senator, and Herb Moss, the N. Y. radio producer, are a Palm Springs buzz. . . . Such a scene at June Havoc's costume party the other eve, when curvaceous Amarilla Morris, of the chorus, rhumba'd to hard and became unsheathed! . . .

Edward Arnold's recent illness has cost him 30 lbs. . . . Critic Dick Watts' reason for dining so frequently at Bill Bertolotti's is Fredericka, the blonde dancing vision there.

Beaux who take out 17-year-old Mimi Berry, of "Panama Hattie," have to call for her at Dinty Moore's where her mama gives the okay—and return her to mom at Moore's after the date!

Equity has asked Ruth Merman, latest dancing addition to "Panama Hattie," to change her name on account of a gal named Ethel. The altered moniker will be Ruth Rogue, which she cleverly thought of because Rogue is her husband's name.

Reply to Robert Moses, who thinks museums are stuffy: Before Gene Krupa opens at the Cafe Rouge on the 21st, he will give a drum concert and lecture at the Museum of Natural History, with an introduction by staid curator Dr. Chapin!

Big scene at the Beachcomber when Papa Amaya (Carmen's daddy) leaped at a drunk who staggered over to Carmen's youngest sister, Antonia, and asked her to dance. Took three waiters to cool pappy's Spanish blood after the "insult."

M. G. M.'s talent scout, Benn Jacobson, is forgetting Jo Ann (My Sister Eileen) Sayres with Helen Dollard, the blonde model. . . . Gargantua, the sissy, drinks chocolate malted milk for lunch!

Paramount is readying their biggest buildup in years for Veronica Lake, the gilt-haired ingenue of "I Wanted Wings." Four buildup experts are teaching her to walk, talk, emote and give out interviews! . . .

Duncan McMartin's narrow escape in that Canada plane crash was even narrower than his intimates suspected. Word from Canada is that his two companions in the crackup were killed.

Beverly Paterno and Jack Sterling, one of the local glammer boys, are a new combo for the El Morocco set to wonder about. . . . Hal Sherman has given his "Hellzapoppin'" notice. Wouldn't take a pay cut. . . . Put Humphries, of the Wall St. clan, is making reconciliation overtures to his ex, Jerry Higgins—who recently separated from No. 2, announcer Paul Douglas. . . .

Features editors shouldn't miss the story in Wanda Rogers, a circus high wire performer. She's one of the few New Yorkers to ever make the circus—starting to work under the big top because she couldn't make good on the radio.

HOLLYWOOD

—By Robbin Coons

HOLLYWOOD—Don't look now, but I think this must be Hollywood.

There's a producer talking about buying a town for a picture called "Buy Me That Town"—if the town is right and he doesn't have to pay more than the $40,000 Lloyd Nolan (in the script) pays for it. . . .

Claudette Colbert, preparing for a solo trip to New York, spends a month in advance telling everybody that she's going alone, that her husband is too busy to go, and it doesn't mean a quarrel when she goes. . .

ROBBIN COONS

They're looking for a Bengal tiger to serve as mascot of a mythical movie company for "World Premiere"—a tiger who must get a cage with John Barrymore as the producer. Specification: "He must like ham but not too much" . . .

They use a raccoon on a leash to intrigue the bloodhounds used in the woodland chase sequence of "Man-Hunt." The first time, the hounds are excited and bark wonderfully. After that, being movie hounds, they're hep to it and go through the motion, as blase as an aged matinee idol kissing another heroine. . . .

They make a picture called "There's Magic in Music" and then are afraid the title plus the implication of highbrow music will keep the customers away. They call it "The Hard-Boiled Canary"—which fits exactly—but then the music-lovers squawk, and somebody thinks it doesn't do justice to Allan —Jones, who's in the cast with Susanna Foster, so—they change it back, after release, to "There's Magic in Music." . . .

I have a postcard (courtesy amateur radio W6SPB) from Bill Duchaine, Escanaba (Mich.) Smelt Jamboree, to this effect: "Chance for good yarn for you. Linda Johnson elected sweetheart Escanaba Smelt Jamboree. Call either Paramount studios or Columbia Broadcasting System . . ."

You may look now. This is Hollywood.

WHY actors worry:

First time I met Carole Landis she wore a black wig as part of her argument for a much-wanted test for the girl in "Captain Caution." She didn't get the role, or even the test.

She was lucky. "Caution" was a caution—but blonde Carole went ahead to a Zanuck contract, and to "Miami."

Chatter Corner

(Just jottings about people you know, as they're seen here and there about town.)

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Henry, 570 Woodland road, received word that their son, Roger, is to be initiated into Pi Sigma Phi, professional chemistry fraternity, at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, tonight.

Sunrise Services to Start Day of Easter Church Observances

Sermons, Special Music Arranged For Day; Baptismal Services, Receptions For New Members Are Planned

Climaxing a week of religious observances in commemoration of Holy Week, which saw churches filled to overflowing during the past week, Mansfield churches Sunday will celebrate the resurrection of Christ, greatest of Christian religious observances.

Only one other Christian observance approximates the annual Easter observance. That is the celebration of Christmas, the day of Christ's nativity.

All churches throughout the city will participate in the almost 2,000-year-old services in the name of the founder of Christianity, Jesus Christ, who died on the Cross that men might be saved.

Many churches throughout the city will begin the day's rites with sunrise services. Special musical accompaniment will be held in many churches.

More than 100 choristers will sing in the solemn high mass at St. Peter's Catholic church, while at other services, choir music, quartet and organ music will accompany the religious rites.

Baptismal services will be held in many of the churches, while pageants by children, plays and other symbolic forms of worship will share the day's religious activity in various congregations.

An Easter breakfast will follow the sunrise service of the Park Avenue Baptist church, while one of the most colorful observances of the day will be held by the Mansfield Commandery, Knights Templar at the First Methodist church at 6:30 a. m.

Knights will parade in full dress uniform accompanied by the Templar band, to the place of worship.

2 Choral Services Arranged For Easter

Members of Grace Episcopal church will join in two choral services of Holy Communion Easter day at 6:30 and 10:45 a. m. The rector, Rev. Glenn F. Lewis, will be the celebrant and will preach at the 10:45 service on the topic, "Let Us Keep the Feast."

Grace church Boys' choir under the direction of Mrs. Dean Eckert will sing at both services. Hymns include "Welcome, Happy Morning" by Arthur Sullivon, "Come Ye Faithful" by Arthur Sullivan and "Jesus Christ Is Risen Today" from Yyra Davidica. The musical setting to the Holy Communion is adapted from Gounod's Messe Solemnelle by Halpin. The Easter Introit is by MacFarren and the offertory anthem will be "This Joyful Easter-tide," an Old Dutch Melody arranged by Baker. The Gloria in Excelsis will be from Old Scottish Chant.

Mansfield News-Journal

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, SATURDAY, APRIL 12, 1941.

Drive carefully tomorrow—you'd better be late than "the late."

After she had completed the spring housecleaning, a Michigan wife reported the disappearance of her husband—but some restrain the impulse.

Congress has gone as far as it can in support of President Roosevelt's defense and aid-to-Britain program—he must now await action by the CIO.

Troop Movement Through Mansfield

PREPARATIONS for national defense are given greater realism by such incidents as that of yesterday when army trucks brought several hundred soldiers to Mansfield for an over-night stay while enroute from Ft. Knox, Ky., to an eastern camp.

As viewed from the sidelines, this cavalcade of armored scout cars and trucks, with its personnel of officers and enlisted men, made an impressive sight and brought better understanding of the human element involved in the gigantic national preparedness program.

But here were only a few hundred of that vast multitude of America's young men who are being trained, or who will soon be in training, to defend their country against the aggressive acts of any foreign power or combination of powers.

In Europe, as war reaches new heights of intensity, soldiers are numbered by the million and many cities are bombarded from the air and overrun by enemy hordes.

It is to spare America this ultimate fate that agencies of government and all right-thinking people are moving earnestly toward adequate national defense and greatest possible aid to those nations which are now engaged in a gallant but unequal battle against totalitarian aspirations to dominate the world.

Even a brief glimpse of a small segment of America's potential fighting force, and realization of the sacrifices these young men are making, should inspire every loyal American to cheerfully accept his or her share in the great task upon which this country is engaged.

Traffic Death Toll Mounts

LOOK AGAIN at the picture of the wrecked automobile on Page 1 of yesterday's News-Journal. Imagine the frightful force required to instantly transform a sturdily constructed motor car into such a mass of twisted steel!

A 17-year-old boy was killed in that wreck. His two companions were injured. The youthful victim may have thought—as so many motorists do—that such things happen only to OTHER PEOPLE.

Some states place the legal speed limit for night driving at 10 miles an hour less than maximum daylight speed. The reason for this might well be taken into account by Ohio motorists.

Richland county traffic deaths, thus far in 1941, total eleven, as compared with two on this date last year. The record is not encouraging.

Growing Rebellion Against Captors

MANY Americans have wondered why more was not heard in this country of movements in the conquered lands of Europe organized to oust the conquerors. It seems evident that there is plenty of direct action on the part of freedom-loving individuals, many of whom pay with their lives or liberty for their courage. But little has been said of organized activity on a national scale in the overrun countries.

Recently such news begins to be heard. It is said that anti-Fascists within and outside of Italy are working toward formation of a "Free Italy" government organization like General Charles de Gaulle's "France Forever." Its purpose is to overthrow Fascism and save Italy.

An Austrian in the United States tells of a projected "Austrian Action" movement of the same sort for his country. A news story from Turkey quotes a prominent Bulgarian who escaped into Turkey just ahead of completion of Hitler's pact with Bulgaria. He reports an organization within his country which is already at work derailing supply trains, blowing up tank cars full of oil and doing whatever they can to hamper Hitler's progress there. The suicide of Premier Teleki of Hungary suggests unhappiness in that country over alliance with the Nazis.

Some of these things may be mere rumor, or hope. But they seem truly significant of a rising tide of rebellion against the conquerors while their conquests are still far from complete.

Gum-Chewers To Aid Defense

CHEWING GUM seems to be among "the little things in life that count." Gum-chewing addicts are asked to make the sacrifice entailed in not using the customary aluminum wrappers and contenting themselves with mere wax paper wrappers. Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—One of the strangest theatrical debuts in Broadway history is being made by a young actor named Philip Ober in "Mr. and Mrs. North," a comedy about a nice young married couple whose pleasant Greenwich Village apartment suddenly breaks out in a rash of corpses.

Ober plays one of the corpses. He topples out of a closet in the first act, almost into the arms of the astonished Peggy Conklin. After the toppling, the rest of his work consists simply of lying absolutely motionless for at least ten minutes while the coroner, detectives, police, fingerprint experts and photographers work on, over, and around him. It's Ober's first Broadway part, and a difficult and thankless one. But he does it as well as can be done, which is, you will have to admit, as high praise as any actor ever got on Broadway.

THE officials of the Tide Water Oil company may be pardoned for the pleased expressions seen about their offices. In the last 16 months their tankers have effected four major rescues at sea, saving 261 lives that would have been lost but for the quick acting and the quick thinking on the part of the various captains and crews. Captain Leland Hawkins of the Associated started it by rushing to mid-Pacific just as a passenger liner sank and picking up passengers and crew.

Then Capt. John Kvistberg of the Robert E. Hopkins came upon a sinking yacht off Hatteras and rescued all aboard. Next, Capt. J. P. O'Brien of the Samuel Q. Brown hurried to the Alice Tebb, a wooden freighter sinking in a 60-mile gale, and picked up the entire crew of 32. In all, 261 lives have been saved—quite a record for a company whose business primarily is to sell oil.

AS THE winter winds die down and the sun becomes increasingly friendlier, there is at least one man on Broadway who is sorry to see winter left behind. He is Jose Ferrer, star of "Charlie's Aunt."

Ferrer was born in Puerto Rico and educated in Switzerland. Then he came to the United States and entered Princeton. His years abroad had unfitted him for American sports. He knew little of baseball, tennis, etc.

Eventually the ski craze hit the country, and Ferrer not only knew something about this—he became a leader. He moved into the hills near Ossining, where his children could carry on the daily skiing they learned in Switzerland, and he found it exhilarating to kick around with the rest of the skiiers and know that he was as good, if not better, than his colleagues. This is why he loves winter. When summer comes, he remembers how "lost" and inept he was in sports with his Princeton classmates.

Final Chapter In Great Land Deal

—By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—Over in the new Interior building—where you can hardly turn a light on without a written permit from the secretary—Secretary Harold L. Ickes is writing finis to one of the greatest eras in American history, the era of western railroad expansion.

I will try to give it to you in a nutshell. Back in 1850, Uncle Sam needed transportation more than anything else. The wood-eating Iron Horse looked like a pretty good bet. It might even be an improvement on the Pony Express. It not only might be able to get the mail through fast—it might be able to carry some freight too.

The men who manipulated the railroads looked around, too. They would be willing to stake their all if they just had something big in return. What could Uncle Sam offer? Uncle Sam looked around. Goodness knows, he did have land. West of the Mississippi there was more land than any one ever had dreamed of.

So the "biggest real estate deal since the Louisiana Purchase" was soon in progress. It involved vast land grants on one hand, agreement to complete vast railroad systems on the other. When the history of this era is fully written, it will fill volumes. For 21,500 miles of high iron, the United States gave away 158 million acres of land. That was about the equivalent of all the Atlantic seaboard states from Maine to Florida, inclusive. In addition, Uncle Sam had the privilege on all of these lines of shipping freight at half the established rate. Also, all government employes were to travel on half fare.

Texas Was Excluded.

THIS, mind you, was on practically all railroads operating west of the Mississippi, exclusive of the Texas mileage. When Texas came into the Union, it retained state domain over all its lands. Outside of Texas, the railroads could have almost anything they asked for—if they completed a line. Seventy-five of them did.

For a long time it was wonderful. Railroads had gold and silver mines, farm lands, cattle and sheep acres. They built towns and cities—and sold lots. It was the era that brought the Harriman and Hill fortunes and a hundred others. It was an age that is all behind us now. And what has happened since?

The railroads ran out of land that was worth one hoot an acre and they were saddled with the agreement to carry government freight and personnel at half price. In came the great western federal power and irrigation projects. Government agents, acting for the engineers and contractors, bought trainloads of cement, machinery, steel, lumber, and sand—and all of it went to destination at half-rate. The railroads went to Washington with tears in their eyes.

Last year congress passed the transportation act of 1940. It permitted the railroads to turn back to the government all their unpatented or unsold lands and get out from under the strain of carrying federal property and government employes at half price.

Isn't Worth Much.

SINCE then, about 30 roads have turned back every acre, except for rights-of-way. It adds up to about 200,00 acres, or one seven-hundredth of the original grants. Most of it is dessert, swamp or mountain top and doesn't amount to much. But it is the squaring of accounts—the end of one of the most fantastic eras in American history—when natural resources were so bountiful that building a mile of track was good for a brace of ranches.

It's all over now. The Illinois Central, the C. & N. W., the Katy, the Rock Island, the C. M. & St. P., the Missouri Pacific, the Frisco, the Great Northern, the Southern Pacific and many others have settled their accounts—turned in the worthless land—and now can charge Uncle Sam the same freight rates they charge Joe Doakes. It may not save the railroads, but it will help.

Test of Greatness

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

EVER CONSIDER how strong some other human really was? How reliable in an emergency? How much of a record he'd probably make in life? There's a way of telling. An infallible test—

JUST WATCH HOW HE ACTS WHEN HE'S IN THE WRONG.

Never mind his charm at other times . . . his seeming courage and shrewdness, strength and popularity. Wait until he's blundered—gone to sleep on some job and been caught with the goods—

THEN CHECK HIS REACTION.

For that reaction will reveal to you the caliber of that human, and his chances of success, more surely than the smartest psychiatrist.

What's his (or her) first thought when caught in a jam? Is he concerned for the work he was supposed to do—worried over the damage he may have done or the trouble he may have caused those with whom he's associated.

Well—maybe he isn't as noble as all that. Few of us are. But how about his attitude toward himself? Will he frankly admit he's at fault and take the blame, like a good sport? Or is he one of those people who can "never be wrong"? Is he instantly ready with an excuse or prepared to pass the buck to the other fellow?

Then—after the thing's over how does he act? Make a clean sweep of it—do his best to repair damages—then call it a day and start over? Or does he add the incident to his everlengthening list of Secret Grudges 'n' Grievances—and seize upon it as one more reason for Being Sorry For Himself—and go around saying how everybody's picking on him?

Interesting angles—you've noticed them yourself in dealing with humans, haven't you? How differently they take things. How one man will take the ups and downs gamely, get over them graciously, while the other fellow treats them as Major Catastrophes

But why—you wonder—should this be an infallible test of a human being's character and a sign of whether he'll make good or take the count?

Because a man's reaction to blame isn't merely the proof of how he feels about himself—it's the proof of how he feels about the whole world . . . about his fellow man . . . about life itself.

WE'RE AS BIG AS OUR OWN ABILITY TO GIVE AND TAKE . . . AND OUR SUCCESS OR FAILURE DEPENDS ON OUR ABILITY TO GET OUT OF OUR OWN WAY.

No one can help making mistakes. No one can possibly hope to escape criticism—both fair and unfair. But the big man takes these things in his stride. And he does this, not because he's unusually brave or wise, but BECAUSE HE KNOWS THAT IT IS RELATIVELY UNIMPORTANT.

It hurts to fail. But that hurt can't possibly mean much to the worried, hurried people of this crowded world. And no human of varied interests and eager curiosity should permit it to mean much to himself. If he does permit it to mean much it will be just his bad luck.

FOR NO MAN WILL BE GIVEN A UNIVERSE TO RULE WHO GETS ALL FUSSED UP OVER HIS OWN HANGNAIL.

A man's reaction to blame—to his own blunders and the other fellow's censure—there's the deepest test of any human, including YOURSELF.

This Is Ohio

STUDENTS of Ohio history owe a debt to William Henry Smith for the part he took in the preservation of historical material pertaining to the Northwest Territory.

Smith, long keenly interested in the history of the middle west, was requested by the Ohio legislature to edit the papers of Arthur St. Clair, first governor of the Northwest Territory. These were published in two volumes in 1882.

St. Clair, during his long periods of absence from the territory, delegated full authority to his secretary, Winthrop Sargent. The Sargent papers, lost for over a hundred years, have been found and are now being published. The St. Clair papers and the Sargent papers contain all the official acts of Ohio previous to its admission as a state.

Summary of Week's Happenings

Threatened Steel Strike Delayed, Agreement Ends Ford Shut-Down

—By ASSOCIATED PRESS

FRONT-OFFICE representatives of "Big Steel"—the giant U. S. Steel Corporation—and white-collared leaders of the CIO's Steel Workers' Organizing Committee sat around a conference table in Pittsburgh last Monday. There was a "last-minute" tenseness. At issue was a work stoppage, slated for Tuesday night, of 261,000 men in the 69 plants of this, the world's greatest steel producer.

The SWOC had asked 10 cents an hour more for workers and had hinted it would settle for eight. U. S. Steel had countered with first 2½ and then five (maybe).

Then a note was handed to negotiators. Ernest T. Weir had just granted a full 10-cent-an-hour raise to National Steel workers.

Weir, chairman of National Steel, a "Little Steel" corporation which has not signed a contract with SWOC, was one of the last men from which the SWOC expected help. To most CIO men he was a foe.

A half hour after hearing of Weir's action, the SWOC men at Pittsburgh announced extension of the "Big Steel" strike date to April 15. The corporation, ready to continue negotiations, said any changes in wages or working conditions agreed on would be retroactive to April 1. Informed persons thought it likely that "Big Steel" workers would get 10 cents an hour, too.

Peace At Allis-Chalmers.

The new mediation board cleaned up the 76-day Allis-Chalmers strike at Milwaukee, which delayed work on converting $45,000,000 in defence funds into armaments. Sitting down with company and union men, the board negotiated a settlement of the controversy, providing an impartial referee for all future disputes, continuance of wage discussions, and a one-year ban on strikes and lockouts.

Ford Strike Settled.

CIO President Philip Murray hurried to Detroit to make union history by sitting down at a conference table with Ford officials to discuss settlement of a walkout at the motor firm's great River Rouge plant. The labor board on Monday ordered bargaining agent elections within 45 days at the plant. The strike, involving 200,000 men, brought stoppage of Ford work in 41 cities.

Yesterday afternoon it was announced an agreement had been reached and work would be resumed at once.

Coal Operators Disagree.

The CIO United Mine Workers union, led by tough-talking John L. Lewis, and soft coal operators continued negotiations at New York in an effort to agree on a new contract increasing wages $1 a day, as Lewis had demanded. Complicating settlement of the work stoppage affecting thousands in the Appalachian area was a disagreement between Northern and Southern mine owners over Lewis' demands for elimination of a wage differential. Under the differential Southern workmen have received 40 cents a day less than those in the North.

At Home

Scuffles Over Ships.

Uncle Sam's good neighbor, Mexico, stepped into the ring last week and expropriated 12 German and Italian ships.

The seizure of other vessels of the two nations a week previously by the United States meanwhile brought fresh repercussions with Italy withdrawing a naval attache from Washington (by request) and demanding the United States recall the American assistant military attache in Rome.

On American Physiques.

"American children born in the Canal Zone," reports Dr. Clarence Mills, of the University of Cincinnati, "are significantly smaller in every way than children newly arrived there from the United States." He blames the stunted growth on the growth-retarding effects of tropical heat.

The skulls of Americans are getting broader, Dr. Ales Hrdlicka, Smithsonian Institution anthropologist, finds. The reason, he says is that the chewing muscles which run up the sides of the skull are used much less because of softer foods. They do not exert as much pressure on the sides of the skull; and it expands sideways instead of lengthwise.

Ain't It the Truth?

Correct English, says Dr. Robert Pooley, president of the National Councils of Teachers of English, is what the masses of people choose to make it.

"The use of 'ain't' as a verb," he states, "could be made entirely correct in an amazing short length of time. Slang is constantly seeping into the language, and may I say that I think this is the finest trend that could be taken."

Timely Editorial

Psychiatrist Is Stumped.

It is not at all uncommon to compare a legislative session to a madhouse. The comparison, however, is considered unfair to the latter by those familiar with madhouses, to judge by the comments of an eminent psychiatrist from Hartford, Conn. After attending a legislative hearing at the Connecticut capital, the psychiatrist expressed astonishment that members of the committee managed to keep their reason.

He listened, he said, to "three hours of bombast, harangue, ranting and a modicum of reason," and then exclaimed to the chairman: "I don't see how you do it. I would be a patient in my own institution in no time." He concluded that legislators "must be endowed with a special psychiatric stabilizer that keeps them from going completely mad."

Madhouses, it appears, are calm and orderly places by comparison with legislatures in action. The psychiatrist's surprise that legislators don't go insane seems unwarranted, however. Like workers in a boiler factory, legislators acquire a merciful deadness to the madness and the noise going on about them. Given a few terms in office, legislators gradually develop a protective immunity, and some even begin to consider bedlam and bombast as a natural way of life.—Minneapolis Tribune.

Abroad

Britons See the Bill.

England was reminded that total war costs plenty. Her chubby-cheeked chancellor of the exchequer, Sir Kingsley Wood, informed Britons that they (rich & poor alike) would have to pay 50% of their earnings as an income tax. Britons had been paying 42½%. By lowering exemptions, he added 2,000,000 new low-wage earners to the tax rolls.

He estimated the budget for the coming year at about $16,800,000,000. The increase in levies is expected to produce about $1,000,000,000.

Two novel features appeared in his statement:

1 He said that about half the additional money Britons would pay would not actually be taxes but rather compulsory savings (or loans). After the war, he asserted, this money would be credited to the taxpayer in a savings bank.

2 Sir Kingsley added: "The burden I am compelled to impose is virtually necessary not only to meet our financial position but to secure a reduction in consumption" and avert spiralling prices and wages.

In Back of Turkey.

Iraq, southeast of Turkey, has a rich supply of oil and several air bases. Politically, it has been close to Great Britain. Because King Feisal II is only six years old a regency has ruled the country.

The prince regent reported that a group of army officers who are "instruments in the hands of foreigners" forced him to leave the capital and forced the premier to resign, and set up their own government. Britain identified the "foreigners" as Italian. The new cabinet charged the prince regent with trying to usurp the throne.

French-mandated Syria is the other nation directly to the south of Turkey. In a shuffle, a new government of wealthy Syrians headed by Khaled Bey Azem, took office. Riots and strikes immediately spread through the country. Free French General de Gaulle said the Nazis have begun a policy of agitation and infiltration in Syria.

Churchill Warns Soviet.

At the hour Salonika was falling, Prime Minister Churchill told the news to the house of commons. A few moments later he looked up at the diplomatic gallery where Ivan Maisky, Soviet ambassador, was leaning over the rail, and declared:

"There are many signs that point to a Nazi attempt to secure the granaries of the Ukraine and the oil fields of the Caucasus."

And looking up at U. S. ambassador Winant, he said Britain would need more and more naval escorts.

Petain's Omission.

One of Adolf Hitler's best friends in France is Fernand de Brinon, French ambassador in Paris. He believes that "chasing the English from the continent will contribute to a quick end of the war and help spare France much unhappiness." De Brinon forecast that Marshal Petain, chief of state, would soon make a speech attacking General de Gaulle, the Free French leader aiding Britain.

When Petain spoke, he did not mention de Gaulle, and complained only against "subtle insidious propaganda inspired by Frenchmen." Further, Petain said that French honor forbade any action against her former allies (Britain.)

Throat Doctor's Fee.

Wendell Willkie's persistent abuse of his vocal cords during his presidential campaign forced his managers to call in a throat specialist. Dr. Harold Barnard traveled with WW for almost two months. Recently he tendered his bill: $13,000, or $250 a day. Republican leaders were hinting during the week that they would be willing to settle with Barnard for perhaps a third that figure.

In Short

Expressed: Conviction that a system of voluntary press censorship would work out all right, by Stephen Early, presidential press secretary.

Commissioned: The U. S. battleship North Carolina, the first of 17 dreadnaughts ordered and the first battleship to be commissioned by the navy in 18 years. She weighs 35,000 tons.

Died: Senator Morris Sheppard of Texas, dean of congress in point of service and sponsor of the national prohibition amendment; Frederic William Wile, widely-known newspaperman.

Jungle Fun.

"Road to Zanzibar," playing at the Ohio presents Bing Crosby and Bob Hope as a pair of carnival men traveling around Africa trying to raise enough money to get back to the states. Bing thinks up ideas for the acts in which Bob is shot out of a cannon, frozen alive or made to perform other feats. Dorothy Lamour and Una Merkel are trying practically the same game when they meet up with the boys. Side-splitting complications ensue as the quartet joins forces.

Sea Thriller.

Jack London's famous story of life aboard the hell-ship "Ghost" is told in "The Sea Wolf," showing at the Madison. Edward G. Robinson plays the title role as "Wolf Larsen," a merciless tyrant who ruled his shanghaied crews with methods remindful of today's dictators. Among his victims are John Garfield, a sensitive young author and Ida Lupino, a fugitive from justice, who furnished the romantic theme of the picture.

Marxian Antics.

The latest of Marxian antics of Groucho, Harpo and Chico as presented in "Go West," showing Sunday at the Ritz, take place in colorful locales. Opening in New York in 1870 the picture suddenly switches to Colorado and many of the highways and bi-ways in between. The gold rush furnishes motif for what plot there is and Walter Wolf King and Diana Lewis contribute to the musical end of the picture. Chico and Harpo also take a turn on the piano and harp. "Back in the Saddle," with Gene Autry is Film No. 2.

WEDDING VOWS READ FOR MISS CURTISS

Church Service Held Today at Central Methodist When Miss Mary Jane Curtiss Became Bride of Robert Freeman.

BEAUTY BASKETS of white Easter flowers and cybotium ferns, lighted by seven branch candelabra, formed the setting at the altar of the Central Methodist church, this morning at 9:30 when Miss Mary Jane Curtiss, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Curtiss, 400 West Fifth street, became the bride of Robert T. Freeman of Buffalo, N. Y.

The ceremony was performed by Dr. R. L. Foulke in the presence of friends and relatives. Mrs. W. W. Webb presided at the organ, playing the nuptial selections, "O Promise Me," "I Love You Truly" and "Indian Love Call."

Dressed in navy blue sheer frock with a jacket, the bride approached the altar to exchange marriage vows with Mr. Freeman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Freeman of 215 North Mulberry street. Her accessories were in blue and white and the bridal corsage was orchids and sweetpeas. Attending her was her sister, Miss Dorothy Curtiss, who wore a powder blue ensemble and a shoulder corsage of gardenias.

Richard L. Freeman of Rochester, N. Y., served his twin brother as best man.

Mrs. Curtiss wore a navy sheer dress with navy accessories and a corsage of Talisman roses. The bridegroom's mother wore a similar costume with Talisman roses forming her shoulder corsage.

Following the simple service a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Leavitt, Vennum avenue, uncle and aunt of the bride. A wedding breakfast was served to members of the bridal party at a table attractive with Easter appointments. Later in the day the couple left for a southern motor trip. After May 1 they will reside in Buffalo, N. Y.

For traveling Mrs. Freeman wore a penny brown suit with beige top coat and brown accessories.

The bride, a teacher at Brinkerhoff school, was graduated from Mansfield Senior high school and received B. S. in education at Ohio university. She was affiliated with the Kappa Phi sorority. Mr. Freeman was graduated from Ohio university and was a member of the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity. He is now associated with the Shelby Salesbook company in Buffalo, N. Y.

Richard Freeman of Rochester, N. Y., was the out-of-town guest present.

'Newness of Life' To Be Topic of Mayflower Sermon

The Easter morning sermon by Rev. L. E. Coffey at the Mayflower Congregational church will be "The Newness of Life." Accompanying the morning services special programs have been planned.

The Senior choir will sing two anthems, "The Lord Is Risen Today" and "He Lives Again." Albert Adams will sing the "Holy City" at the morning rites.

Baptism and reception of new members will be a part of the morning service.

Special music has also been arranged for the morning prayer service. Mrs. Giles Hamilton, organist, will play four selections. A duet will be sung by Helen Wolford and Marjorie Miles. Other parts of the program will be music by the Ladies' choir, a solo, and a reading.

The program for the Sunday school hour will be in charge of the junior choir. Mrs. Daniel Edwards directs the group.

START REVIVAL

The Pilgrim church, 322 Harker street, will begin revival services Sunday at 7:30 p. m. These meetings will continue every evening. They will be conducted by Miss Marie Tschappet, evangelist, and Miss Iada Burris, musician. Both are graduates of Asbury college, Wilmore, Ky.

Apple Custard Pie.

½ cups cold boiled rice
⅓ cp. melted shortening
2 tbsps. granulated sugar
2 eggs
3 tbsps. sugar
3 gratings nutmeg
1½ cps. milk
¼ tsp. salt
½ cp. apple sauce

Press rice through sieve, add melted shortening and 2 tablespoons sugar, mix well and place evenly in well-greased pie dish. Beat eggs slightly, add 3 tablespoons sugar, salt and milk, and stir until sugar is dissolved. Add apple sauce, mix well and pour into the rice. Dust top with nutmeg and bake in moderate oven until custard is set. Serves 7.

Buckeye Garden Club Entertained At Peck Home

Buckeye Garden club members held their regular meeting Friday at the home of Mrs. Howard Peck, 577 Brae Burn road. The new garden center to be opened soon was discussed and the program was given by Mrs. Gene Zediker and Mrs. Jack Berno. Later a luncheon was served from a table decorated with yellow appointments. Mrs. Thomas Siegenthaler presided at the table.

Mrs. Zediker spoke on "How, When and Where to Plant Annuals" and Mrs. Berno's subject was "How, When and Where to Plant Perennials."

The next meeting of the club will be held April 25 with Mrs. Siegenthaler, Brae Burn road.

Charles Gilbert Tells Of Coming Marriage

Announcement is being made today of the engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Alice Banks, Northville, Mich., daughter of Mrs. Edward Masters, to Charles Gilbert, son of Mrs. Jean Gilbert, 545 Johns avenue in this city. Mr. Gilbert is a graduate of Mansfield high school and is employed at the Richland Shale Brick company. The wedding will be an event of early summer.

Will Become Bride Today

This afternoon at 3 o'clock Miss Dora Slemmons, pictured above, will become the bride of Jerry Hollister. The formal service for the Mansfield couple will be solemnized at the United Brethren church in Navarre with open church being observed. Friends and relatives from Mansfield will motor there for the wedding and reception.

Advice to Unhappy Wife On Divorce

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

I'm a very unhappy wife. I have two boys, ages 21 and 14. I'm in love with another man, but can't make up my mind to divorce my husband because of the boys. The man I love says he would be good to the boys if I want to bring them with me, but I know my husband is very fond of them and is good to them too. I haven't the heart to take them away from him.

I met this other man while my husband and I were separated, but I gave him up and went back while the other man left town. He still writes to me, waiting for me to make up my mind to divorce my husband and marry him. He is four years older than I am and has a good job. He has always been sweet and kind to me.

It seems as if I can't stand this life much longer, if there isn't a change. My husband doesn't want me to go anywhere because he's afraid I'll meet this man, not knowing he's out of town.

UNDECIDED WIFE.

It's a question, if you broke up your home, divorced your husband and married this other man, whether you'd be as happy as you imagine. It's the far hills that always look greener, and domestic upheavals in middle age, which bring unhappiness to others, seldom bring happiness to those who incite them.

You tell me your boys love their father and he loves them. There should be some very good reason for breaking such bonds. You haven't told me the cause of your former separation from your husband—was it on your account or his? If you desired that separation, it is more than likely that he will want to keep his sons with him. When the glamour has worn off this new marriage, how will these various changes affect you? In the final analysis, you will have to make and abide by your own decision. I can only tell you that, to me, this new set-up does not appear to promise much happiness.

Casual Acquaintance.

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I'm 28 years old and not going with anyone. Not long ago I went out with a group of girls. We had dinner and stayed for the dancing. A young man at the next table asked me to dance with him several times, which I did. He tried to get me to make a date, but I put him off by saying I was busy. I finally set a meeting place, because I didn't want to give him my phone number or address.

The girls all say I should meet him, but I'm hesitating. What do you think about this sort of friendship? I've never gone out with anyone unless properly introduced, but this young man seemed so likable.

WONDERING.

While this young man might be the "answer to a maiden's prayer," he may, on the other hand, be a well-dressed gangster. The problem with young men who introduce themselves in public places is that a girl doesn't know whether he bolngs to the former or the latter type of individual.

I think that the advice of your girl friends that you should meet him in a lobby or a street corner was an error in judgment. If you intended to follow up this casual acquaintance, you should have asked him to meet you in your home, where he would see that you didn't belong to the chance type of girl who accepts invitations from young men of whom she knows nothing.

This person may be all right, but it would only be the part of wisdom to find out something about him. Where is he employed, who are his friends and relatives? You've only got to read the papers to know there is a decided element of danger to a young woman going out with a man about whom she knows absolutely nothing. Watch your step, if you go on with this acquaintance.

REVIVAL MEETINGS

Revival meetings will be held at the Christian and Missionary Alliance, Branch No. 2, at 278 North Main street, beginning Monday and continuing through April 27. Speakers for the first week's services will be Johanna Potzner, Lillian Beaumont and Jack Curry.

Mothers' Home Circle Meets at Park Pavilion

Thirty members of the Mothers' Home Circle held their all day meeting at North Lake park pavilion Friday with a dinner at the noon hour. Hostesses were Mrs. Portia Hammon, Mrs. Florence Favor, Mrs. Daisy Klinefelter, Mrs. Nona Keith, Mrs. Maude Schrack, Mrs. Addie Matthes and Mrs. John Dunajtsik.

The day was sspent in quilting and sewing and a brief business session was in charge of Mrs. Clara Byers, vice president. Reports were given on the welfare work being carried on by the organization.

During the social hour an Easter program was presented by Mrs. C. C. Vermilya and Mrs. Robert Fenner. Mrs. Ida Brown was surprised with a birthday cake from the group in honor of her 87th anniversary. The next meeting on May 9 will be in charge of Mrs. George Hoover, Mrs. Harry Rudolph, Mrs. Nellie McCorquedale, Mrs. Cleo Hainer, Mrs. Leo Brewer and Mrs. Mary McQuade. This will be an all-day meeting at the park pavilion.

LODGE MEETING.

Mrs. Sarah Case presided at the meeting of the Lady Garfield council, Eagle lodge, Friday evening at the Eagle hall. The group decided to attend the meeting of the lodge in Shelby, Tuesday evening. It was also arranged for a rummage sale to be held Thursday, Friday and Saturday. On April 22 there will be a meeting in the afternoon of the Past Councillors' association and in the evening the Lady Garfield council will meet.

HOROSCOPE

For Sunday, April 13.

Sunday's horoscope holds testimonies of some very active and important happenings of a public, community or philanthropic nature. All church and charitable activities may be under high stimuli, but these may suffer minor delays and peculiar perplexities, especially in relation to writings or contracts. It would be well to shun extravagance, excess and possibly litigation.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year of some progress and success in public affairs, or in group or community objectives, although this advantage may have delays, disappointments and the menace of duplicity, litigation and loss. Extravagance and indulgence may be regrettable. Sign papers cautiously.

A child born on this day may be active, ambitious and devoted to the public welfare and collective prosperity, although it may have fluctuating personal fortunes.

For Monday, April 14.

Monday's astrological forecast is for a day of unusual liveliness and activity, although the sudden precipitation of events may call for the utmost skill and discrimination to prevent unexpected upheavals and disruptions. Such striking adventures may concern the emotional, romantic or artistic life, which could be thrilling and lucrative if descreetly managed.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a year of the sudden and unpredictable, with matters moving at thrilling pitch in both private and public affiliations. It is probable that the romantic, emotional or creative faculties are pitched to high tempo and call for much discernment and clever management.

A child born on this day should be talented, public-spirited, have unusual talents and creative ability. Also a strange urge for romance and adventure.

FORMAL INITIATION HELD FOR SORORITY

Members of Beta Kappa Tau Receive Nine Young Women Into Organization at Service at Leland Hotel.

DRESSED in lovely evening gowns in the pastel shades 30 young women members of the Beta Kappa Tau sorority met at the Mansfield-Leland hotel last evening for formal initiation service honoring nine pledges. Miss Marjorie Swanger was chairman of the party and toastmistress for the program. Miss Wilma Sauder, president, conducted the rituals which were held by candlelight.

Pledges accepted into the sorority were Mrs. Leonard Braden, Mrs. Howard Johnson, Mrs. George Burgess, Misses Ruth Gable, Thelma Southward, Betty Baki, Jerry Fisher, Ann Divilbiss and Margery Underwood.

Assisting Miss Swanger with the program was Miss Maxine Rimmer and Miss Ruby Bollman. The refreshment table was dainty with a centerpiece of purple sweetpeas and red roses and tall lighted tapers. The pledges received corsages of the same flowers as favors of the group.

Tomorrow morning the young women will meet for an Easter breakfast at the Southern hotel at 8 a. m. in charge of Miss Eleanor Star and Mrs. Edward Hinz.

The sorority, a local organization, has been active for the past five years.

LAST MEETING.

Harold McQuen spoke at the last meeting of the Little Theater club when they met at the home of Miss Frankie Lane, Park avenue west. During his talk he told of the tour of Minnesota and North and South Dakota he and Donald Scott Morrison recently completed. Mr. McQuen and Mr. Morrison will leave for a tour of Ohio schools next week. Rehearsals for the plays, "The Prince and the Pauper," and "The Mikado," which were chosen by Mr. McQuen to be presented by the Little Theater group in a public performance this summer, will begin in May when the Ohio tour is completed.

Junior Club Meets At Memorial Building

Members of the Sarah E. Lewis Junior club, No. 20, met at the Memorial building Friday afternoon for a routine meeting. Miss Beatrice Shade presided and announced the club had accepted an invitation to observe their 8th birthday anniversary with the McLaughlin Women's Relief Corps when they celebrate their 57th anniversary April 23 with a covered-dish dinner and program at the hall.

Misses Mary Ellen Hoopes, Mary Ellen Raison, Betty Bugbee and Naomi Locke are in charge of the celebration plans. The group will meet for a poke picnic at Middle Park, Friday, at 2 p. m. At this time drill practice will be held. The next regular meeting of the club will be held April 25 at 4 p. m.

Two Pledges Initiated When Sub Debs Meet

Members of the Sub Deb club met recently at the home of Miss Eleanor Maurer, 71 North Adams street. Miss Claude Blake was the guest in attendance. Initiation was held for two pledges, Misses Geraldine Rhoads and Myrtle Marth. Plans to hold a bake sale, April 18, were made. A short business session was held after which the evening was spent socially. Games were played and prizes won by Misses Ann Shadwell, Corrine Laser and Barbara Meister. The next meeting will be held April 24 at the home of Miss Mary Perman, Lida street.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

For the fraction of a second Helena Brixton's forehead was furrowed with the annoyance a certain type of hostess feels at the slightest alteration of her dinner table plans. Then, with an effort, which, to her credit, was not apparent, she gave me an acquiescent smile.

"Why, of course, Darling," she said smoothly. "It's perfectly all right if you wish to go in with Ronald."

"It's my good luck," Carolyn said pertly, and I knew that her rancor against her brother had not diminished. "I'd rather talk to Dad any day."

"That's all right by me, Baby," her stepfather said fondly, then he gave me a quick, rueful glance.

"I don't mean—" he stammered, and I laughed lightly—and reassuringly.

"Don't bother with explanations or apologies, Sam!" I adjured him. "We're both pleased, and Helena isn't upset, so—"

Praise For Helena.

"Everything is lovely and the goose hangs high," Dicky chanted. "But angel of my life!"—he addressed me solemnly—"please don't hold up this dinner any longer. I'm virtually starving, and when I think of a Helena Brixton dinner being delayed for even a minute, I begin to see red."

"But I didn't cook it, Dicky," Helena disclaimed, and Dicky promptly uttered the line she was patently expecting.

"But you supervised every slightest detail," he said. "Don't try to deny it."

"I won't," she said dimpling. "And I did make the pie before I knew you were coming."

"That proves you don't feed poor old Sam left-overs," Dicky retorted. "You're a good wife," and on that laughing accolade we went in to dinner.

"Don't tell me somebody else arranged that," he exclaimed. "If you do, I'll know you're lying in your teeth."

"I'll acknowledge the indictment," Helena said flushing with pleasure. "I'm so glad you like it. Now Sam, if you'll put Carolyn on your left hand, Madge can sit at your right, and at the left of Ronald, who will sit at my left, while Dicky is at my right. Will you please be seated?"

Dicky chuckled audibly as he put Helena into her seat at one end of the table, while Ronald seated me, and Sam performed the same service for Carolyn.

"What's the joke?" Helena demanded.

"I was just thinking about the many-faceted brains of women," he said. "Nothing important, but Oh! boy! this soup is!"

I agreed with him as I tasted the delicious concoction of creamed mushrooms and asparagus which was steaming before us, evidently having been placed while we were on our way to the dining room. But I knew what he meant. Helena's dinner partners were arranged exactly as she would have had to shift them if she had carried out her original plan of sending me into dinner, conventional fashion, with her husband. Dicky was at her right, I was at Sam's, but Ronald and Carolyn were on opposite sides of the table from each other, thus giving "every lassie a laddie."

Talking to "That Gangster!"

But it was not until the soup had been discussed, and the roast ducks with orange sauce, green peas and tiny "parsley potatoes" had been set before us, that Ronald spoke to me under cover of the absorption of the others in a story Dicky was telling with such emphasis and elan that I knew he was making an opportunity for Ronald to talk to me without the others suspecting the nature of our colloquy.

"She was talking to that gangster," he said in muted tones, careful not to mention his sister's name.

She Loved a Spy + + + + + +

CHAPTER XXIV

"Why so quiet?" Paul inquired. She smiled. "Nothing, darling. Just thinking."

"About me, I think."

"Paul, nothing can happen, can it? I mean Karl won't really put you on that submarine?"

"I doubt it," Paul said with a certainty he was far from feeling.

"Darling, do you suppose we'll ever have a normal life like other people? A calm quiet life with no more mysteries and excitement?

"Not so long as there are Karl Millers left in the world, honey."

"You're right!" she cried loyally. "Your job is too important, said. "I'll never be bored."
to death if nothing happened."

"As long as I have you," Paul said. "I'll nevr be bored."

She smiled tenderly. "Is that a promise?"

He drew her into his arms and kissed her. "I love you, Joan!"

She felt as though his love built a high wall between her and the rest of the world. A wall which Karl Miller could never penetrate. It gave her shelter and security even in the midst of this present danger.

"I'm afraid you'll never have an easy life," Paul warned. "I'll be away a lot and sometimes I won't be able to explain where or why. You'll have to trust me."

She hid her face against his shoulder. "I do trust you!"

They sat quietly for a few minutes snatching this happiness which they knew would be broken too soon. The uncertain future was a challenge which neither wished to admit or recognize.

It was less than half an hour later when Thomas returned saying, "Come on dark. It's here!"

They followed him to the rail. The misty rain and grey sky and sea made it difficult to focus their vision but Joan suddenly saw the periscope of a submarine rising slowly from the water.

"There it is! I see it!"

"Yes. This is it," Paul said quietly.

The three of them looked at one another significantly. Then, standing uneasily side by side, they watched the submarine emerge like a giant fish from the depths of the sea. Joan gazed fascinated, as it came into view and hovered like a shadow on the horizon.

* * *

Karl appeared from the captain's quarters. They could see him descending the narrow flight of stairs. He was dressed in uniform and called sharp commands to three sailors who stood at the rail preparing to lower a small boat.

"Is Karl going to the submarine?" Joan asked.

"Probably they will come to the ship," Paul said speculatively.

"Yes, that's right," Thomas put in, nodding his head. "I've seen them do it before. Karl gives them the papers and they're gone again."

"You don't think Karl has found out that you changed those plans?" Joan said nervously.

"He doesn't seem to."

Men appeared from the hold of the ship. All stood at attention as the hatch of the submarine opened and two officers appeared. As Thomas had predicted, the boat carried them to the ship where they climbed up the rope ladder.

Joan's and Paul's quarters were above the main deck of the ship and they could see what was going on below. Karl saluted the officers and shook hands with both. After this they all went to the pilot house.

"What will they do now?" Joan asked.

"Get the papers and go back."

"And all those plans will be used?"

"Yes. Not only plans for bombing planes, but formulas for explosives and poison gas. This spy ring has connections in every part of our country. It's a powerful organization and the leader's the one we want. Getting Karl alone wouldn't do any good. If he were in jail the rest of his life, it wouldn't stop the rest of them."

"How terrible!" Joan shuddered.

"That isn't the worst of it," Paul went on. "They intimidate people who have relatives in Germany, threatening to harm them unless money and aid is given. Many people are drawn into it this way."

"Yes!" Thomas cried. "That's what happened to me. Karl told me my wife would be put into a concentration camp if I didn't give him five thousand dollars. She was still in Germany, you see, so I tried to raise the money but I couldn't. So Karl offered to put it up for me if I would come on this ship. That's the way he gets most of them, I came. But I've never heard from my wife since. I suppose she's dead," his voice trailed off sadly.

"So that's how Karl works!" Joan cried hotly. Her heart was flooded with shame to think that once she had fancied herself in love with this despicable man who covered his innate cruelty with disarming suavity. More than ever she was grateful for Paul's comforting arm about her shoulder. Paul, who had seen her through this mad infatuation, who had stood lovingly by her, not holding it against her — never blaming her.

It was still raining and a hushed silence seemed to enfold the sea, ship and submarine. Even the sailors lined up on the deck stood quietly in the rain. Not a sound was heard except the occasional slap of the waves.

"We may as well go inside," Paul said. "Apparently this conference is going to take some time."

"I don't like the look of it," Thomas insisted. "Usually they're here only a few minutes. They can't stay long. These waters have been patroled since the war." He gazed, frowning, across the ship to the pilot house. "I'll stay here and let you know when they come out."

"Do you really think anything is wrong?" Joan asked anxiously as she and Paul went into the lounge. "If Karl discovered about those plans . . ."

"It doesn't look too good," Paul admitted. "Be ready for anything. If you want your purse, you'd better get it now. We may be off the ship before another hour passes."

Automatically Joan went into her cabin and gathered up her things. It seemed fantastic that they could escape from a boat in mid-ocean.

"All set?" Paul said as she stood resolutely before him.

"Ready for anything!" Joan said gallantly.

But almost an hour passed and nothing happened. The ship rested tranquilly by the side of the submarine. The rain continued. Thomas watched from the deck. Paul smoked endless cigarets as he passed the length of the cabin. "I don't like this delay," he admitted. "Things aren't going as I had planned."

The afternoon lengthened into darkness. A slight wind drove the rain with more force than before. The single deck light flickered dismally and the wet rail glistened in its glow. Silent and expressionless, the sailors stood on the deck below. Light streamed from the window of the pilot house where Karl and the two officers from the submarine held their conference.

Thomas came into the cabin where Joan and Paul waited, with tea and toast. "There must be something wrong," he whispered. "Karl must have found out about those plans."

Paul frowned but said, "Not necessarily."

"But if he has, what then? How will we ever escape?" Joan put in.

Thomas poured the tea and his hand trembled. "He'll know I helped you. He'll kill me, I tell you! He might let you off because you're important and you could be of use to him, but I'm nobody and he'll get rid of me! I've seen it happen before, for less reason than this."

Joan, remembering Eric Strom, was filled wth a vague terror. Her had instinctively touched the gun in her coat pocket.

"Karl won't kill anyone," Paul said calmly.

Joan had already noticed that Paul had the faculty of inspiring trust. Thomas seemed to be relieved by his assurance, vague and indefinite though it was. Joan, too, felt some inner faith, some conviction that Paul could master any situation.

It was a little after 7 when Thomas motioned them to come outside. Karl and the officers were on the lower deck.

They watched as the officers descended the rope ladder and were rowed back to the submarine. In the darkness it was hard to distinguish them. It was like some evil mirage, as their vague shapes disappeared down the hatch, then slowly the submarine began to submerge. There was something terrifying about it to Joan to see this giant shell sink into the sea, carrying with it men, guns and plans for bombing planes which would be used against innocent victims—to see this complete organized unit submerging into watery depths from which it would travel like an ominous messenger carrying death and destruction.

"It's the most terrible thing I've ever seen," Joan said, moving closer to Paul. "It's symbolic of all the hidden terror in the world today."

"And it's my job to do all I can to stop it," Paul reminded her.

"You'll never stop Karl and his kind. There are too many of them," Thomas said sadly. "It would take years."

"We'll stop them all right, no matter how long it takes, and every little bit helps. If we can get to the bottom of this unit, it will frighten the others. Every man in the F.B.I. is working day and night tracking down these people. We'll catch up with every one of them eventually."

Joan's heart was full of pride in his words. Paul was a fighter. He never gave up. He would see things through to the end, no matter how bitter, just as he was doing now. He was the kind of man who fought for a cause. The kind of man who in his small way did much to make the world a better place to live in.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

SQUEEZE AFTER RUFFING

Usually a squeeze play comes at the end of running a long suit or suits. On the early rounds of it, the defenders may select their discards without any particular trouble. Then it gets more difficult, so they must be careful about what they throw away. Finally comes the trick on which it is absolutely impossible for one of them, or both, to discard something which is not damaging. That same finish can be brought about, however, at the end of a cross-ruff, which winds up with the lead of a card on which the troubled opponent cannot discard except disastrously.

	♠ K Q J 9 4 ♥ K 10 4 3 ♦ 6 ♣ K 5 2
♠ A 5 3 ♥ 8 7 6 2 ♦ K J 10 5 3 ♣ 10	W. E. N. S.	♠ None ♥ A Q J 9 5 ♦ Q 8 7 2 ♣ J 9 8 7
	♠ 10 8 7 5 2 ♥ None ♦ A 9 4 ♣ A Q 6 4 3

(Dealer: West. North-South vulnerable.)

West	North	East	South
Pass	Pass	Pass	1 ♠
2 ♦	3 ♠	4 ♥	4 ♠
5 ♥	5 ♠	Pass	6 ♠
Dbl	Rdle

North's bidding and redouble were brilliant, based on his reading of South's heart shortness from the opponents' strong bidding of the suit, his filler K in clubs, his shortness in diamonds and the location of the spade honors over the doubler. Plus, of course, his confidence in a fine partner. South proved the latter part of the case with much gusto.

West led his club singleton, the A winning, and South fired back a spade, which West took with the A, East signalling with the heart 9, so West returned his heart 2 to the J. South ruffing. That launched a great cross-ruff, preceded by a lead to the spade 9, on which East shed a diamond. A heart was ruffed, the diamond A scored, a diamond was ruffed, another heart ruffed, another diamond, and then South led the spake K from dummy to the tenth trick. At that stage the dummy also held the heart K and the club K-5, and the declarer four clubs headed by the Q. East could not discard his heart A, which would have set up the dummy's K, so he cut down to the club J-9 by discarding the 8. Then the club K and Q dropped those two cards, the 6 making the last trick.

for them to pass a given point at the same speed.

The troops did not arrive in Mansfield together. They were spread out over more than 20 miles of road, the armored scout cars grouped in two companies, arriving first and the baggage and maintenance cars arriving shortly after at 4 p. m.

While the four companies rolled along, mobile kitchens attached to each company, were astir with the preparation of the evening meal. Four men worked in each kitchen as they moved along the road. Supper was served shortly after the arrival in the city.

Busiest man on the armory field was Captain W. T. Brown, supply chief, who moves along ahead of the main body making arrangements for the provisioning of food and gasoline. Captain Brown arrived here in the morning and purchased 200 pounds of bread, 518 pounds of beef, 64 pounds of butter, plenty of fresh vegetables and approximately 3,000 gallons of gasoline.

Tomorrow Captain Brown will precede the force to Erie, Pa., where he will again stock the larder for another day's trip which will bring the soldiers to Rochester late Sunday. The last leg of the trip through Watertown, N. Y., to Pine Camp, will be made Monday.

Nineteen city policemen escorted the troops through the city and handled traffic, greatly swelled by crowds attending Good Friday services in downtown churches.

State highway patrolmen from Division B, headed by Sergeant D. D. Stark, met the main body of the force at Mt. Gilead and will take them to the state line east of Conneaut today.

Arriving at the armory field, the four companies lined up for provisioning. After eating and cleaning up, the men were discharged for the evening. Soldiers wandered about the city seeking entertainment, and returned at 11 p. m.

17 FACING TRIAL.

RAVENNA —(AP)— Seventeen proprietors of bunk houses and eating places are slated for trial Monday on charges of violating the county health code in the Shantytown area near the Ravenna Ordnance plant. Fines ranging from costs to $25 were imposed on six others yesterday by Elizabeth H. Jones, justice of the peace.

In the center can be seen gasoline trucks refueling the powerful armored cars, and part of the contingent breaking formation to move on to Ashland. About 150 of the 500 men in the convoy spent the night at Ashland armory. The plane used to make the aerial picture was supplied by the Harrington Air service.

day on a complaint filed against Ford by the CIO.

While peace was in sight for Ford, the United Automobile Workers International union asked locals for authority to take a strike vote of 175,000 members in 76 General Motors plants.

Walter P. Reuther, head of the GM section of the union, said the strike action would not affect workers in defense industries. Reuther told the OPM he had notified the management the deadline for strike action would be April 20, the end of the 60-day period provided in the UAW-CIO agreement with General Motors. The union was reported demanding higher wages.

The bituminous coal fields remained unmanned as southern operators quit the eight-state Appalachian conference in a dispute over terms of a new contract which would cover 325,000 workers seeking wage increases.

These operators said they would form a negotiating group of their own and would renew an offer to give miners an 11 per cent increase and continue negotiations with the CIO to adjust all disputes. They refused to give an increase of $1.40 daily and announced they would ask the national mediation board to consider their plea for continuation of a sectional wage differential.

Non-delivery of soft coal pinched the operation of steel furnaces as the CIO's Steel Workers' Organizing Committee sought wage increases for about 100,000 workers in Bethlehem plans. The union wants a minimum 10-cent hourly increase. Bethlehem representatives resumed negotiations with SWOC and an agreement was forecast by next week.

The union increased to 340,000 the number of workers affected by its demands, by including Bethlehem in its wage increase drive. Negotiations continued between Carnegie-Illinois Steel and the CIO, affecting 240,000 workers in the United States Steel corporation, holding many millions in defense contracts.

review, was that the Rumanian government was still resisting German demands.

On the fourth front, scene of the main attack, the Germans attacked from Bulgaria at three points—from Sofia toward Nis, from Kustendil toward Skoplje and from Petrich toward Strumissa. All three movements were executed with strong motorized forces and hopes soon vanished that the mountains would check the advance. The Germans smashed through. Before they reached Nis the Yugoslavs engaged them in fierce fighting in a mountain pass. They repulsed them three times but the Germans crashed through on the fourth assault.

Advancing on Skoplje, the Germans again used overwhelming mechanized forces, aided by massed dive bombing planes. The same tactics were used in the drive on Strumissa. After passing Strumissa the Germans met resistance in the Vardar valley but their motorized forces, coupled with their air force, broke the Yugoslav hold. British planes which rained bombs on the Strumissa valley forces retarded but could not halt them.

Meantime Greek forces had sufficed to check the Germans at the Rupel Pass, the review said, but they were inadequate for a flank attack against the Germans and the Germans swept down the Vardar valley. Here they split, the review said, one turning north to join the westward bound Germans at Skoplje, the other turning southward into Greece. These latter forces, with those already streaming into Thrace, cut off the Greeks at Rupel and captured Salonika, it was explained.

From Skoplje, Prizren and Pripel the Germans pressed to the Albanian frontier.

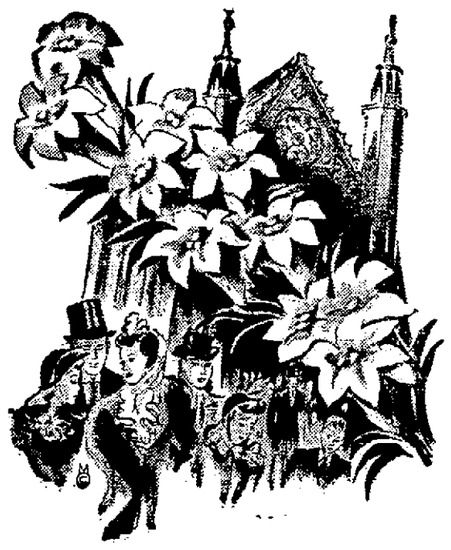
THE RESURRECTION

The Gospel According to St. John



The first day of the week cometh Mary Magdalene early, when it was yet dark, unto the sepulchre, and seeth the stone taken away from the sepulchre. Then she runneth, and cometh to Simon Peter, and to the other disciple, whom Jesus loved, and saith unto them, "They have taken away the Lord out of the sepulchre, and we know not where they have laid him."

Peter therefore went forth, and that other disciple, and came to the sepulchre. So they ran both together: and the other disciple did outrun Peter, and came first to the sepulchre. And he stooping down, and looking in, saw the linen clothes lying; yet went he not in. Then cometh Simon Peter following him, and went into the sepulchre, and seeth the linen clothes lie, and the napkin, that was about his head, not lying with the linen clothes, but wrapped together in a place by itself. Then went in also that other disciple, which came first to the sepulchre, and he saw, and believed. For as yet they knew not the scripture, that he must rise again from the dead. Then the disciples went away again unto their own home.

But Mary stood without at the sepulchre weeping and as she wept, she stooped down, and looked into the sepulchre, and seeth two angels in white setting, the one at the head, and the other at the feet, where the body of Jesus had lain. And they say unto her, "Woman, why weepest thou?" She saith unto them, "Because they have taken away my Lord, and I know not where they have laid him." And when she had thus said, she turned herself back, and saw Jesus standing, and knew not that it was Jesus. Jesus said unto her, "Woman, why weepest thou? whom seekest thou?" She, supposing him to be the gardener, saith unto him, "Sir, if thou have borne him hence, tell me where thou hast laid him, and I will take him away." Jesus saith unto her, 'Mary!" She turned herself, and saith unto him, 'Rabboni"; which is to say, "Master." Jesus saith unto her, 'Touch me not, for I am not yet ascended to my Father: but go to my brethren, and say unto them, 'I ascend unto my Father, and your Father: and to my God, and your God.'" Mary Magdalene came and told the disciples that she had seen the Lord, and that he had spoken these things unto her.

FIVE INJURED IN 2 MISHAPS ON ROUTE 42

cuts and bruises and a four-inch back laceration. Miss Campbell suffered a bad bruise on her chin.

The accident in which Au lost his arm occurred on a straight-away three-lane highway. Both cars collided and were thrown to opposite sides of the road. State highway patrolmen had great difficulty in identifying the make of Weber's car, so badly was it damaged Au was rushed to General hospital for treatment for the accidental amputation and loss of blood.

In previous accidents this week, Richland county's death toll was increased by two for a total of 11 for the year to date.

Au was driving south at the time of the crash and Weber north on Route 42.

In the accident at South Boulevards, State highway patrolmen said that Miss Campbell was driving north and had attempted to make a left turn into a driveway. Beach, traveling south collided with her car and overturned.

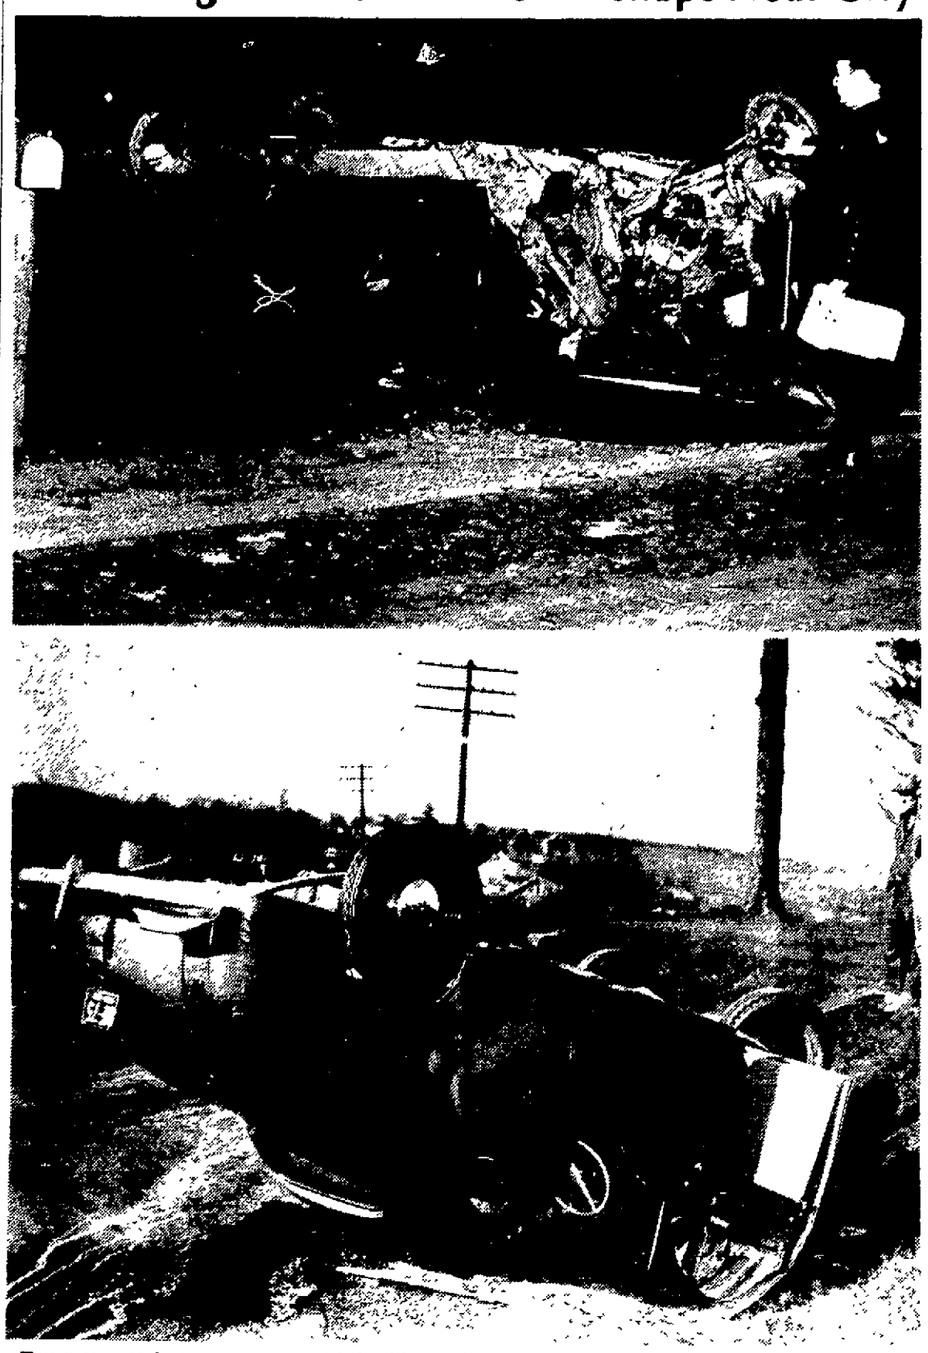
In a less serious accident, two motorists escaped injury about a mile north of Bellville on Route 13. Cars driven by Jack Chester Kerr, 29, of 29 Glenwood boulevard, and Homer W. Myser, 37, Coshocton, sideswiped. The cars were badly damaged but neither driver was injured.

At New Philadelphia, four youths were killed and two others injured as the result of a head-on collision between an auto and a truck-trailer.

Those killed were Donald Hodgson, 22; Myron Harrig, 20; Wilford Agler, 21; and Charles Fair, 21, all of Navarre. Injured were Vernon Sterner, 18, and his brother, Blaine, 20, also of Navarre. Clarence Lozier, Chicago, driver of the truck, escaped with minor injuries.

The impact of the collision, according to state highway patrolmen knocked the truck which was loaded with steel down an embankment into a ditch.

Wreckage of 2 Cars After Mishaps Near City



Two more accidents in a week which has already added two lives to Richland county's death toll, occurred last night and early today on Route 42. A state highway patrolman points into the center of a mass of wreckage of an auto which collided with another three miles northwest of the city last night. Joseph Weber, Mansfield, driving the smashed car, suffered a possible skull fracture. James Au, Windsor, driver of the other car, had his left arm torn off at the elbow. Below, another car which overturned in a ditch 300 yards south of the South Boulevards this morning after a collision. Phillip Beach, Seville, driver, escaped serious injury, but a companion, Clarence Strader, also of Seville, suffered a possible fracture and numerous cuts and bruises.

BRITISH, NAZIS LOCK IN GIANT GRECIAN BATTLE

Axis Forces Reported Heading Toward Belgrade; Fight Renewed Near Tobruk.

slav premier, broadcast a statement, however, that "Germany's early successes cannot discourage us."

"Our troops," he said, "are concentrating on main battle lines to check the enemy's advance."

In the air war, the Luftwaffe again blasted at British coastal regions, concentrating especially the Germans said, on Portsmouth. The British acknowledged much damage in west England and said casualties were rather heavy there, but reported destruction of two more German raiders, bringing to 40 the number shot down since Monday.

On the African front, the British said their troops had made "contact" with the Italo-German units marching on Tobruk in Libya.

Victorious troops of the East African campaign were said to be pouring through Egypt to get in line for battle with the Germans and Italians, who in three weeks have covered some 400 miles across North Africa.

The war office listed prisoners for the Eritrean campaign at 41,000. The figure was broken down to 1,000 Italian officers, 14,000 "Italians of other ranks," and 26,000 colonial troops.

At Addis Ababa, capital of Ethiopia, which fell late last week without a fight, the British said they took 5,000 prisoners.

Say Reports of Troops Cut Off 'Exaggerated'

LONDON—(AP)—Reuters (British) news agency reported from Athens today a statement by a semi-official Athens news agency branding as "most exaggerated" reports that the number of Greek troops cut off and captured east of the Vardar river exceeded 80,000.

"Greek forces in this area were much smaller than this and, furthermore, thousands of them were able to withdraw in time and reach free Greek territory," the report said.

"(A German military spokesman said Thursday that Greek prisoners captured in Thrace numbered more than 80,000 and that the "final number will be much greater," since the count was not finished.)

"Foreign broadcast stations have announced Greek forces which were cut off to the east of Vardar river and capitulated exceeded 80,000," the Athens dispatch carried by the British agency said.

"Authorized circles here state these reports are most exaggerated and were given for tendentious reasons.

"They capitulated only because their left flank was turned and they found themselves suddenly uncovered because of the withdrawal of Yugoslav troops, which isolated them."

Nazis Claim 24,000 Tons of Shipping Sunk

BERLIN—(INS)—Destruction of 24,000 tons of enemy shipping by German warplanes and further smashing aerial raids on Britain were officially announced in Berlin today.

In an assault against a convoy off the southwest coast of Britain, an official statement said, four ships totaling 14,000 tons were sunk. Another 10,000-ton vessel was sent to the bottom off Pembroke.

Churchill Says Anzacs Probably in Battle

BRISTOL, England—(AP)—Prime Minister Winston Churchill said today that "Australian and New Zealand troops may be in contact with the enemy today in the classic land of Greece, fighting with the sons of Britain and playing an important part in the universal drama."

He spoke in the bomb scarred University of Bristol as the Chancellor of the university invested United States Ambassador John G. Winant and the Australian prime minister, Robert G. Menzies, with honorary degrees of doctors of laws. A similar degree was conferred in absentia on President Dr. James Bryant Conant of Harvard university.

"It is indeed a marvelous fact," Churchill said, "that Australia and New Zealand, who are separated from us in Europe with its passions and quarrels by the great ocean spaces, send their manhood and scatter their wealth upon this world cause" though bound by no bond or treaty.

Paris Paper Describes Flame-tossing Attack

VICHY —(U P)— German parachute troops clad in asbestos uniforms and carrying flame throwers as they leaped from low-flying planes to attack Greek forts were described today by the newspaper Paris Soir.

The new-paper reported that the specially-trained Nazi forces rushed the enemy fortified positions, thrust flame-throwing nozzles into the holes in block houses and filled the interior with deadly flames which "carbonized the occupants."

Other parachutists armed with machine guns floated to earth with the flame-throwing troops, the newspaper said, and acted as a fighting escort as the asbestos-clad men went into action. These forces were credited with the capture of forts in both Greece and Yugoslavia and with silencing many isolated blockhouses.

Hungarian Troops Complete Occupation

BUDAPEST —(INS)— Hungarian troops today rapidly completed occupation of Yugoslavia's northeastern territories which the old Austro-Hungarian empire lost in 1918 under the treaty of Trianon.

MANSFIELDERS CONTINUE OPERA RESERVATIONS

450 Already Made, Others Expected For Week of Metropolitan Events.

An increasing number of reservations are being made this week by Mansfield and Richland county residents for Cleveland's week of Metropolitan opera opening Monday night, April 14, it was announced today at the W. E. Jones Piano House, which is handling reservations for the event.

Approximately 450 tickets have already been sold. Mrs. John Jones said there are seats still available for every performance.

"The Marriage of Figaro," Monday night, presents three notable stars for the first time in Cleveland. Bidu Sayao, the Brazilian soprano; Rise Stevens, American mezzo, and Salvatore Baccaloni, famous basso buffo, as well as John Brownlee, Elizabeth Rethberg, Ezio Pinza and the ballet. The opera is conducted by Ettore Panizza.

Outstanding in interest are the performances of "Tristan and Isolde" on Tuesday evening and "Die Walkuere" on Thursday evening, with Kirsten Flagstad and Lauritz Melchior at the head of the cast.

The gala week-end of four operas in two days opens with "Cavalleria Rusticana" on Friday afternoon at 2 p. m., on the double bill with "Pagliacci." Zinka Milanov, Hilda Burke, Anna Kaskas, Doris Doe, Frederick Jagel, Giovanni Martinelli, Leonard Warren, Richard Bonelli and others are in the brilliant casts for these two operas.

The repertoire also includes "The Daughter of the Regiment" Wednesday evening; "The Barber of Seville" Friday evening; "Faust" on Saturday afternoon and "Rigoletto" on Saturday night.

Sport Podge

by REX HESS

George Satterlee is singing the blues, but not too vociferously.

Mansfield came so close to landing that Ohio State league all star game July 7, that win, lose or draw, it wasn't even funny. And it wasn't a bit funny to the Braves prexy when the league decided to leave the scene of the classic to chance.

League moguls in meeting here this week had already voted to have the game in Mansfield between the first half winner and an all star aggregation from the rest of the loop. They wanted a big park to hold a big crowd.

* * *

But then the magnates decided, and rightly, that the big crowd would be there for sure if the game were held in the home park of the first half winner. And they voted all over again.

"We might be able to use that little shot in the arm of baseball interest about that time of year," mused George.

* * *

"But then we'll win that first half championship and get the game anyhow," he promised.

That's the way to patter, Satterlee. You're as good as the rest of the league right now.

That frantic call for help in this column day before yesterday had the desired result, and Chet Beer crashed through in a hurry with all the hottest dope on the hounds.

When he found out how easy it was to get sport news in the paper he came up with: "How about some news on our trapshooting meets some day?"

Why certainly, Chester, any day you say the word.

And that goes for the devotees of all sports from leap-frog on up. Just so the dope is authentic, and reaches this desk in time to be news.

On a 40-hour week I can't hope to cover all the sport events in this territory, but a little cooperation on both ends of the line should take care of the situation.

The sport page is yours, even though you may not want it after I mess it up.

* * *

Harry Mehock's joy's complete, His Tyger tracksters won a meet.

* * *

It was the mile event of yesterday's meet between the Tyger reserves and New London, and Lawrence Todd of Mansfield was running out of the money. His gallery took up the chant: "Turn it on Todd, turn it on."

"Todd's got it turned on now but you don't know it," sagely countered Scorekeeper Lightnin' Jones.

No, he was no toddy in that heat. He wasn't that hot. But he was good enough to finish second in the half-mile.

Bruins Favored For Ice Crown

DETROIT —(AP)— The Boston Bruins were heavy favorites to win National hockey's Stanley Cup from Detroit tonight and become the first team to sweep the playoff final in four straight games.

* * *

Manager Jack Adams of the crippled Red Wings shifted his lineup in a last-minute attempt to match the power and form of the Bruins.

* * *

The Bruins' strength and Goalie Frank Brimsek's defense have given them the first three games by scores of 3-2, 2-1, and 4-2. Ten thousand fans will hope the Red Wings' stunt that sent them into the finals after a mediocre season, will stop the Bruins and send the best four-of-seven series back to Boston to give them another chance at the cup donated by Lord Stanley 48 years ago.

SERVICE BOXERS TO STAGE BENEFIT BOUTS

NEW YORK —(AP)— Teams of professional boxers now in the services will take part in an army-navy boxing show—the first of many now planned—at Jacksonville, Fla., on May 7, under promotion of Major Jacobs and Lieut. Commander Gene Tunney, director of naval sports.

The proceeds of all the shows—which will have free use of Jacobs' sporting equipment—will go to the infantile paralysis fund.

Among the ex-pro fighters are Steve Belloise, Cal Cozzi, Patsy Perroni, Al Nettlow, Tommy Tucker, Frank Petrolle, Al Davis, Marty Servo, Tony Cisco, Melio Bettina and others.

Tygers Capture Track Win

Reserves Chalk Up 70-48 Margin Over New London.

MANSFIELD HIGH tracksters turned in their first victory of the season yesterday when the reserves trounced New London, 70-48.

Some of the Tyger regulars took part in the meet, but mainly in events in which they had not shown previous strength.

Prize find of the meet was Pore, a junior, who wheeled the mile in 4:55 pulled up, while the mile relay team of Woodberry, Timmons, Garnes and Burrage piled up a lead of 120 yards to coast in 3:53.3.

Herrick won the 440 yard run for the Tygers and tied for first in the 220 with Seibert, little New London speedsters who copped the 100.

* * *

Mansfield chalked up seven firsts and a tie, and New London five firsts and a tie, showing its main strength in the sprints and field events.

* * *

This afternoon at 2 o'clock the Tyger regulars are booked for their first home meet of the season, meeting a tough Columbus East squad.

Conn Would Sue for Bout

Holds Contract For June Date With Joe.

By HYPE IGOE

NEW YORK —(INS)— You may not think that Billy Conn is serious about getting into a New York ring with Joe Louis for the world's heavyweight title. Well he is, so much so, that if Mike Jacobs tries to sidetrack the promised meeting between Joe and Conn in June, both Billy and his manager, Johnny Ray, will invoke the law horrible on Mike.

* * *

Yes they'll sue Sir Michael for breach of contract! Doesn't that constitute sincerity of purpose? They have four legs to stand on, too, because the contracts for the June bouts have been signed.

* * *

Ray and Conn dropped in on Mike yesterday on command, coming all the way from Pittsburgh to hear what must have been sour news because, after the conference with Uncle Mike, Ray went up like a skyrocket. He declared that he would not have his man's chances kicked around and that Conn wasn't interested in a bout with Max Baer, Lou Nova, Buddy Baer or Abe Simon prior to the fight for the title against Louis.

Ray Carlen, Nova's manager, was just as hotly resentful about having Nova shoved out of the picture. He declared that Nova qualified twice for a Louis bout when he stopped Max Baer on two occasions.

Ray wouldn't even talk about a fight between Nova and Conn, a fracas Uncle Mike wouldn't mind having booked just now.

* * *

Buddy Baer seems to be the dark horse who will loom up to take the play away from all of the challengers if he may be permitted to do a little snooping.

North-South King To Enter Army

PINEHURST, N. C. —(AP)— The North and South amateur golf champion will be a buck private in the army in a few months.

Today's 36-hole final of the tournament sends Skip Alexander of Durham, N. C., and Frank Strafaci of New York against each other in what probably will be their last major competition before they join the army.

Alexander, former Duke golf star, will enter the army at the end of the present school term while Strafaci, former Metropolitan champion who won the North-South in 1938 and 1939, says he will volunteer as soon as he returns to New York.

Sohioans Defeat Lucas Ex-Hi Team But Yunckers Drop One

LUCAS—A late rally by the Blue Goose Sohioans brought a victory over the Lucts Ex-Hi team last night.

Led by big Bob Crawford, Lucas held a lead through three periods, and half way into the fourth but a scoring spurt by the Sohioans brought them the victory.

Crawford was the high scorer of the game. To garner his 19 points, he hit the hoop from all angles and from every part of the floor. It was Crawford who started the scoring with three buckets in the opening quarter. Willard Lockhart garnered all the Sohioans points in the first quarter. The game at the half time was 16 to 11, with the Lucas team holding the 5 point lead.

The game was a nip and tuck affair until the final stanza when the Sohioans tied the Ex-Hi's on Miller's pivot shot.

With 3 minutes to go, Willard Lockhart threw in a long shot to put his team in the lead. Not content to stall the ball, Bogantz tossed in a one-hand shot for the final score of 30 to 26.

In the prelim Yuncker Sports lost a 33 to 27 decision to the Lucas McCready's. Jones was the Lucas "Big Gun" in this melee, parting the strings for 12 points. Boyd led his team in points but Monte and Curry added eight apiece.

* * *

Lucas led all the way until the final period when Boyd tied the score with a foul. The score was tied twice more in the next few minutes but two baskets by Jones in quick succession iced the game for Lucas. Gilliland played a smart floor game and his one hand side shots were a threat. Curry and Heskett played fine defense.

Champion To Run In Trials

Large Crowd Expected For Coon Chase.

Led by the 1940 national champion, an outstanding field of entries from a wide area have been attracted to the coon hound field trials at G. B. U. picnic grounds tomorrow, according to Chet Beer, sponsor of the meet.

Last year this meet drew an attendance of 600 persons, Beer said, and an even bigger crowd is expected tomorrow.

Attracting top interest among entries in the high quality field will be Blue Sail, owned by I. B. Baker of Norwich, O., winner of the 1940 national championship.

Red Sail, regarded as one of the fastest line and tree dogs alive today, and owned by Bert Cowell, Perrysville, is expected to give the Norwich hound some serious competition, along with Lightning Boy and Indiana Bob of the Cowell pack.

Also outstanding are Ohio Prince, Speedy Boy and Red Arrow, owned by Metz and Moore of Mansfield; Cherry Bob, Red Rowdy and Buckey Jack, owned by Myers and Royer of Perrysville; Black Zipper and Red Blaze, owned by Leathers brothers of Windsor, O.; Midnight Flyer, dangerous black and tan from Canton; Red Star, Drummer Boy and Pay Day, owned by John Cox, Shelby; Hoe Down Joe and Minute Man, owned by Witmer brothers, Lexington; Sport, owned by Glenn Mathes, Mansfield; Ohio Buck, owned by Paul Chandler, Ashland; Silver Cloud, King Cotton and Canada Thistle, owned by V. M. Cloes, Mansfield; and Bawlin' Babe, Cryin' Loud, and Little Red, owned by Fred Ryland, Mansfield.

INTRODUCE LACROSSE.

OBERLIN —(AP)— Oberlin and Kenyon colleges play Lacrosse here today in the start of a campaign to make the game a regular Ohio intercollegiate sport.

Champions Fall In Bowling Test

ST. PAUL —(AP)— A new champion will be crowned in the five-man event at the current American Bowling congress tourament.

The defending champions—Chicago's Monarch Beers—made that certain last night by shooting a disappointing 2,855, far short of the 3,047 they posted last year and the 3,065 held by the present leaders, Vogel Brothers of Forest Park, Ill.

Clarence White of Lancaster, O., fell 15 pins shy of the "Big Ten" board with a 688 series on games of 223, 230 and 235 in the individual event.

* * *

High doubles pair of the day was William Ripp and Richard Davidson of Middletown, O., with 1261—eighteen pins from the leaders. They started with 425, fell to 378, then came back with 458. Ripp had 645 on games of 243, 192 and 210 and Davidson 616 with 182, 186 and 248.

Ruth, Cobb Cross Niblicks In Golf Game for Charity

By HARRY FERGUSON

NEW YORK—(UP)—Years ago they met along the dusty baselines of eight American league baseball parks, and now they will meet again on tee, fairway and green.

* * *

Babe Ruth today accepted the challenge of Ty Cobb to play a 36-hole golf match for some war charity yet to be selected. The match will bring together the two greatest hitters in the history of baseball and two of the most flaming competitors in any sport.

* * *

Tentative plans call for the first 18 holes to be played on a course in or around Boston and the second 18 holes to be played at Detroit, according to Fred Corcoran, tournament manager of the PGA who has been active in arranging the charity match. It will be match play and in event of a tie after 36 holes Ruth and Cobb may play it off on some New York course.

Cobb issued the challenge about two weeks ago and Corcoran announced today that Ruth was willing.

It probably won't be brilliant golf, but it will be interesting. Ruth and Cobb are both left-handed golfers and their games are about on a level. Each shoots between 75 and 80.

* * *

There probably will be just as many baseball fans in the galleries as there will be golf addicts, for both Ruth and Cobb can still gather a crowd by merely walking down the street.

They will see the Ruth and Cobb of today, two middle-aged men who have lost the spring from their legs.

And, in memory, they will see the Ruth and Cobb of yesterday, slimmer, trimmer men who were twin nightmares to pitchers. They will think back to the day in the world series when Ruth pointed to the center field fence and then lofted one of Charley Root's pitches to the exact spot for a home run.

They will think about the day when Cobb, with a temperature of 102 and legs that were cut and raw from spike wounds and slide burns got out of a sickbed and played a game against the Yankees in which he got three hits and stole two bases.

BOWLING SCORES

Ohio Brass bowling season closed last night with Brass Foundry winning the championship on 58 games won against 26 losses.

Hank Michaels chalked up high series with 190-225-210—625, and Jimmy France was second with 209-203-182—594.

High total went to Brass Finish No. 1 with 801-908-849—2558, and Soft Iron turned in high game of 960.

JAMAICA READY FOR RACE MEET OPENING

NEW YORK —(AP)— The men who spent most of the winter rebuilding the Jamaica race track won the first race—and from now on it's up to the horses.

The construction gangs just finished up the job yesterday, and today's customers for the opening of a 24-day meeting will find a new grandstand, seating 15,000, and various other improvements. The plant's seating and standing capacity has been increased to nearly 30,000 and if the weather is good it should be pretty nearly full by the time the 22nd Paumonok handicap is run today.

Feller Shows He's Ready

Holds Giants to Four Blows In 7 Frames.

NEW YORK—(UP)—There was little doubt today in the minds of the Cleveland Indians that their ace, Bob Feller, is ready for the opening day hurling assignment against the Chicago White Sox next Tuesday at the Cleveland stadium.

Feller made his final appearance of the spring training season yesterday at Richmond, Va., when he held the New York Giants to four hits in seven innings as the Indians won, 7 to 1. The victory for the Indians was their eighth against three defeats in the series with the Giants.

As Feller stopped the Giant offensive, the Indians belted Pitchers Cliff Melton and Hal Schumacher for 11 hits. Four home runs, two of them by Outfielder Gee Walker, produced all the Cleveland runs.

* * *

Catcher Gene Desautels and Outfielder Roy Weatherly also hit for the circuit for the Tribe.

The Giants four hits, all singles, were made in the seven innings Feller worked. Joe Heving finished for Cleveland and held the Giants hitless.

As the two teams arrived here for the first of their week-end games which will wind up the training season, Manager Roger Peckinpaugh of the Tribe nominated Al Milnar and Mel Harder for mound duty. Joe Bowman will start for the National leaguers.

Wright Colt Takes Joyner

Whirlaway Returns to Derby Spotlight.

LEXINGTON, Ky.—(INS)—Warren Wright's star thoroughbred, Whirlaway, definitely was back in the Kentucky Derby spotlight today after winning the $1,500 A. J. Joyner handicap at Keeneland.

Carrying 120 pounds, 6 pounds less than Derby weight, the fleet chestnut colt pulled away from opposition and covered the six furlongs in 1:11 3-5 yesterday.

At his mane for second place was Bluepair, C. C. Van Meter's game colt, who was licked similarly by Whirlaway in the Breeders' Futurity here last fall.

The winner started in his usual slow fashion, but in the stretch overtook everything in sight and was going away strong at the wire. Two other Derby candidates, Hal Price Headley's Alakin, and E. M. Woodward's Valdina Groom, ran 4 and 5, with My Bill, a none-Derbyite, third.

Trainer Ben Jones expressed pleasure at Whirlaway's showing. The great colt, original winter book Derby favorite because of his top rating as a 2-year-old last year, appeared fully recovered from a foot injury which retarded him in earlier races in Florida this year.

Whirlaway, and other Derby entrants, including R. G. Martin's Our Boots, successor to Whirlaway as favorite, will appear in other Keeneland races next week with all of the top survivals expected to compete in the $10,000 Bluegrass Stakes on April 24.

* * *

The races will be watched closely by those seeking to pick a winner in the $75,000 Kentucky Derby to be run May 3 at Churchill Downs outside Louisville.

Leiber Left as Lone Cub Worry

Lee was on deck when the Cubs took the field in an exhibition game against the American league White Sox, but was not scheduled to play. He signed during the third inning of yesterday's game.

* * *

General Manager James T. Gallagher refused to reveal terms of Lee's contract. It was reported to involve a compromise between the pitcher's demand for $12,500 and the Cubs' offer of $10,000.

TWO OPTIONED

WICHITA, Kans. —(UP)— While the Pittsburgh Pirates continued their free-scoring ways to lambast the Philadelphia Athletics yesterday, 18-13, Manager Frankie Frisch optioned Outfielder Floyd Vaughn and Infielder Eddie Leip to Albany of the Eastern league. An infielder and three hurlers are slated to go before the deadline for a 25-man squad goes into effect.

Reds Rate Topheavy Favorites

Only 14 of 83 Scribes Fail to Pick 'Em.

NEW YORK—(AP)—The Cincinnati Reds, in the opinion of sports writers in major league cities, are capable of winning their third straight national league pennant this year and taking a place among the leading dynasties in baseball.

All but 14 of the 83 scribes participating in the annual preseason poll of the Associated Press predicted the Reds would finish first, and 13 of the others could see nothing worse than second for them.

With one stray vote cast for third place, Cincinnati received a total of 649 points on the basis of 8 for first, 7 for second, 6 for third, etc.

Twelve of the writers came out for the Brooklyn Dodgers to win and the other two stood up for the St. Louis Cardinals. But in points Brooklyn received only 51 more than the Redbirds and it was evident that their chances were considered almost on a par.

Except for Cincinnati's world champions and the last-place Phillies, who were tabbed for the cellar by 80 of the 83 writers, there was a great spread in the balloting with all other clubs ticketed for at least five different positions.

Rated on total points, however, the predictions were that the league would line up at the end of the season exactly as it did last year.

The Dodgers were ranked everywhere from first to sixth with a concentration of 43 votes for second. The Cardinals were scattered from first to seventh, with a void in the sixth slot. The New York Giants were mentioned for every spot except first and the Pittsburgh Pirates for every place except first and last.

The total points received by each club were Cincinnati 649, Brooklyn 558, St. Louis 507, Pittsburgh 390, Chicago 325, New York 268, Boston 208 and Philadelphia 88.

The same writers wound up in a knot trying to pick the American league outcome, finishing up in a dead heat between the Cleveland Indians and New York Yankees.

What makes a fish so slippery? It's because his body is covered with a mucous constantly secreted by special glands, which minimizes the friction between his body and the water.

There's a good reason why most experienced fishermen use True Temper steel casting rods. Their fine quality, better action and balance, and dependability when dependability counts, are features that have made these rods famous. Yuncker's are showing the complete True Temper line, including a wonderful buy in a True Temper tubular casting rod at only $5.00. Be sure to see it!

Of the many game birds within the United States there is only one with nationwide nesting range. That distinction falls only to the mourning dove which breeds in every state in the union, according to the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

The smallest deer in the world is the mouse deer of Indo-China. One of nature's miniatures, it weighs only about four pounds.

What is probably the very first showing of its kind ever made by any store in Mansfield's history, is the new boating and marine hardware department recently opened at Yuncker's (downstairs). Thompson, Century and Zimmer boats, Johnson Sea Horse outboard motors and a complete stock of marine hardware, invites the inspection of every boating enthusiast.

JUDGE PUFFLE— By Gene Ahern

I THOUGHT THE JUDGE WAS TOP MAN FOR BEING LAZY, BUT YOU TRUMP HIM!
Y'KNOW—YOU COULD LAY IN A HAMMOCK AND SWAY BACK AND FORTH WITH A SALAD FORK TO SCRATCH THE SOIL!
I AIN'T RISKING DIGGING DOWN INTO ANYMO' WATAH PIPES!
LOOK HOW ROCKING IN THIS CHAIR DRAGS TH' RAKE AND MAKES A NICE SOFT SMOOTH GARDEN TO PLANT YOUR FO'-LEAF CLOBER IN!
LOOKS LIKE IT'S GOING TO BE A TWELVE!

TILLIE THE TOILER

I'VE STAYED AWAY TWO WEEKS, TILLIE, BUT I HAD TO COME BACK - I REALIZE NOW THAT YOU'RE THE ONLY GIRL FOR ME
OH, CLAY
I LOVE YOU, TOO, CLAY, BUT, OH, DEAR, HOW WILL WE TELL PAUL?
WE'LL FIND A WAY, DARLING
WE'LL HAVE TO LET HIM DOWN EASY, SOMEHOW
YES, WE'LL WRITE A STRING OF LETTERS, SO THE TRUTH DAWNS ON HIM GRADUALLY
LETTER, TILLIE
MERCY! PAUL SAYS HE'S COMING BACK TOMORROW !
RUSS COESTOVER
PAUL'S COMING TOMORROW - HOW CAN WE TELL HIM WE LOVE EACH OTHER?
GOSH, I'M WORRIED SICK OVER IT
SO AM I, CLAY - I'M SO WORRIED I CAN'T THINK
WELL, CHEER UP - WE'VE GOT TWENTY-FOUR HOURS TO FIGURE IT OUT WHAT'S THIS?
IT'S POSTMARKED SATURDAY! THAT'S THREE DAYS AGO - HE SHOULD HAVE BEEN HERE DAY-BEFORE YESTERDAY - WHAT'S HAPPENED TO HIM?
RUSS COESTOVER
CLAY, THIS LETTER WAS POSTMARKED THREE DAYS AGO
WHAT? THEN PAUL SHOULD HAVE BEEN HERE DAY BEFORE YESTERDAY
BUBBLES, WE'RE SO AFRAID SOMETHING HAS HAPPENED TO PAUL PAUL?
WHY, HE WAS ALL RIGHT WHEN I SAW HIM IN THE POST OFFICE AN HOUR AGO -
- AND I SAW HIM YESTERDAY AND DAY BEFORE, TOO, ONLY AT A DISTANCE
RUSS COESTOVER
MAC, PAUL WROTE ME HE WAS RETURNING THREE DAYS AGO, BUT HE NEVER SHOWED UP AND HE'S BEEN HERE IN TOWN
AW, MORE SECRET BUSINESS ABOUT THAT BOMB OF HIS CLARENCE!
AUNT ELLIE!
OH, CLARENCE, HAVE YOU SEEN PAUL?
NO, I HAVEN'T, AUNT ELLIE BUT HE'S BEEN IN TOWN
OH, DEAR! HE'S BEEN ACTING SO STRANGELY. HE'S IN LOVE WITH TWO GIRLS AT ONCE AND I'M SO AFRAID THE INNER CONFLICT WILL UNBALANCE HIS MIND
RUSS COESTOVER 4-10
YES, PAUL'S IN LOVE WITH TWO GIRLS AT ONCE - YOU KNOW A THING LIKE THAT CAN UNBALANCE A BOY'S MIND
OH, DEAR! I ALWAYS COMPLICATE THINGS FOR SOMEONE
AND HE SAYS THEY'RE BOTH SPLENDID GIRLS
AT LEAST IT'S NICE TO KNOW HE THINKS I'M SPLENDID
BUT WHAT MAKES IT DIFFICULT IS THEY'RE SISTERS
GOSH, I HAVEN'T GOT A SISTER
RUSS COESTOVER
CLAY, PAUL'S MOTHER IS IN MAC'S OFFICE - SHE SAYS PAUL IS IN LOVE WITH TWO GIRLS AND THEY'RE SISTERS
WHAT? I CAN'T BELIEVE IT
WHY, WHAT ARE YOU DOING HERE?
I'M LOOKING FOR PAUL
4-12
BUT WHAT'S THIS ABOUT PAUL BEING IN LOVE WITH TWO SISTERS? ARE THEY ANYBODY I KNOW?
I GUESS THEY ARE -
- THEY'RE YOUR SISTERS
